

Jimmy Carter Library & Museum News Release

---

441 Freedom Parkway, Atlanta, GA 30307-1498

404-865-7100

For Immediate Release

Date: May 28, 2009

Contact: Tony Clark, 404-865-7109

Tony.Clark@NARA.gov

NEWS09-30

New Museum Taking Shape

Mark Your Calendar for October 1st Re-Opening Celebration

Atlanta, GA.- The ALL NEW Jimmy Carter Presidential Museum is taking shape. The original museum was dismantled, historic items stored and display cases donated to other museums. Now, the new walls are going up, display cases are being manufactured off-site and planning is already underway for our gala re-opening ceremony on October 1, 2009.

You'll hear details of the celebration in the weeks ahead and you can follow the progress of our museum redesign on our Facebook page

<http://www.facebook.com/business/dashboard/#/pages/Jimmy-Carter-Presidential-Library/>

Two other dates to mark: Monday, June 22nd at 7pm for author Gary Pomerantz signing his new book, "The Devil's Tickets". Our other author reading/signing is Wednesday, August 19th at 7pm for Pat Conroy, author of "South of Broad". These are two wonderful writers you won't want to miss.

In addition to Facebook, you can follow us on Twitter.com (CarterLibrary) and there's always more information on our website www.jimmycarterlibrary.gov. Don't forget, even though our museum is closed, you can shop our gift shop on line at

<http://estore.archives.gov/carter/>