“EVENING OF JAZZ UNDER THE STARS” CANCELED FOR 2009 REDESIGN OF CARTER LIBRARY NECESSITATES CHANGE

Atlanta, GA. - The Carter Presidential Library’s annual “Evening of Jazz Under the Stars” has had to be canceled this year because of a change in the museum redesign construction schedule. This year’s outdoor concert featuring the Michael Dana Group was scheduled for Saturday, May 9th at 8pm.

The annual concert will return in 2010 as part of the Atlanta Jazz Festival’s 31 Days of Jazz.

“We regret having to cancel this year’s concert,” library spokesman Tony Clark said. “It has become an annual event that attracts more than 300 people with their lawn chairs and picnics. We look forward to hosting the concert next year when we have a brand new Presidential Museum.”

The Carter Presidential Museum will be closed beginning April 27th and will re-open on October 1, 2009.
