FINAL DAYS FOR BAKER PHOTO EXHIBIT

Amazing Large Format Photos From Around the World

Atlanta, GA. There are less than three weeks left to see one of the most amazing photography exhibits you'll ever see. Former Tennessee Senator Howard Baker has traveled the world as a Senator, Chief of Staff to President Reagan and as Ambassador to Japan and everywhere he went, he took his camera. Baker started taking photographs as a twelve year old Boy Scout and the images he captures are truly incredible, whether it is an eagle in flight or the faces of children in Appalachia.

If you enjoy photography, you won't want to miss seeing this wonderful exhibit. The last day is June 27th.

You can see images from the exhibit on the Jimmy Carter Presidential Library Facebook page. <http://www.facebook.com/home.php?#!/notes/jimmy-carter-presidential-library/final-weeks-for-baker-photo-exhibition/125587754132534>
