Authors and Holiday Carols at the Carter Library
Journalist Catherine Crier Tonight...Holiday Caroling Thursday

Atlanta, GA. – Meet award-winning journalist Catherine Crier at a special event tonight (Dec. 7th) at the Carter Center’s Cecil B. Day Chapel. Ms. Crier will discuss her new book “Patriot Acts” with WABE’s Valerie Jackson at 7:00pm. The program will be recorded for later broadcast on WABE’s Valerie Jackson In Conversation.

“Patriot Acts” is an incisive, unbiased analysis of America’s political crisis. Crier argues America must move beyond political parties to invest in our nation’s future, not just with money, but with vision, wisdom, and reason. Looking back at the foundations of our country, from Adam Smith to Alexander Hamilton, from Jefferson to Roosevelt, Crier describes what she says will really work and what doesn’t work for our nation today. A Cappella Books will have copies of Patriot Acts available for purchase and signing. Doors to the Day Chapel open at 6:00pm.

Then join us tomorrow (December 8th) at 10:30am for a holiday tradition at the Carter Library. The E.W. Oliver Elementary School Choir returns for their annual holiday concert in the museum lobby. The concert is always a delight and it’s free and open to the public.

Next week (Dec. 13th) Civil War expert James Robertson comes to the Carter Library to discuss and sign his new book “The Untold Civil War.” For those interested in the Civil War or the effects of war on individuals, this is a program you won't want to miss.
