Three Authors Coming to Carter Library This Week Authors You Won't Want to Miss

Atlanta, GA. – We have three authors speaking at the Carter Presidential Library this week and they are all really good. The events are free and open to the public. A Cappella Books will be selling copies of the books at each event and the authors will be signing them after their talk.

The first up is one you'll really want to hear.

April 23 at 7:00pm...Bret Witter...co-author of Until I Say Good-Bye

Susan Spencer-Wendel's Until I Say Good-Bye: My Year of Living with Joy is a moving and inspirational memoir by a woman who makes the most of her final days after discovering she has amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS). Co-author Bret Witter will discuss Susan's account of living a full life with humor, courage, and love, but also accepting death with grace and dignity. FREE

The next night we will focus on a personal lesson of politics..

April 24 at 7:00pm.... Brandt Ayers....In Love with Defeat: The Making of a Southern Liberal

The journey of writer and publisher Brandt Ayers took him from the segregated Old South to a newly minted civilization, the New South. The journey was one of controversy and danger a racist nightrider murder, taut moments when the community teetered on the edge of mob violence. FREE

And on Thursday, we'll talk about discrimination.

April 25 at 7pm...Gyanendra Pandey... A History of Prejudice: Race, Caste, and Difference in India and the United States

Gyanendra Pandey, the leading subaltern historian, examines the multiple dimensions of prejudice in two of the world's leading democracies. This is a book about prejudice and democracy, and the prejudice of democracy. FREE
