Authors Coming to Carter Library Great Lineup in May & June

Atlanta, GA ... We have four author programs coming up that you won't want to miss. All are at 7pm in the Carter Museum Theater. They are free and open to the public. Books will be available for purchase and signing following the program.

Tues. May 19th .. Alan Axelrod....Lost Destiny: Joe Kennedy Jr. and the Doomed WWII Mission to Save London

On August 12, 1944, Lieutenant Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., heir to one of America's most glamorous fortunes, son of the disgraced former ambassador to Great Britain, and big brother to freshly minted PT-109 hero JFK, hoisted himself up into a highly modified B-24 Liberator bomber. The munitions he was carrying that day were fifty percent more powerful than TNT. This is the story of that fateful mission.

Thurs., May 28... Lawrence Jackson & Alex Sayf Cummings ...City by City: Dispatches from the American Metropolis

City by City is a collection of essays about the present and future of American cities. These essays look closely at the forces—gentrification, underemployment, politics, culture, and crime—that shape urban life.

Wed., June 10... Martin Frost & Tom Davis ...The Partisan Divide: Congress in Crisis

President Jimmy Carter says “Democrat Martin Frost and Republican Tom Davis knew how to work together effectively as Congressional leaders. In this important book, they describe how the decline of bipartisanship has brought about a government that seems incapable of addressing the serious problems that affect our nation, and they suggest how this might be reversed.”

Thurs., June 18... Marja Mills ...The Mockingbird Next Door: Life with Harper Lee

The Mockingbird Next Door is the story of author Marja Mills's friendship with the Harper Lee and her sister. It is a testament to the great intelligence, sharp wit, and tremendous storytelling power of these two women, especially that of Nelle Harper Lee.
