MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: THE VICE PRESIDENT

Mr. President, attached is a memorandum that Warren Christopher prepared for me on the status of the current Cyprus negotiations. You will notice the last paragraph indicates some sign that the U.N. is weakening in its assertiveness in trying to bring about a solution.

I hope that when you meet Waldheim, you will press him for progress in this area.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE VICE PRESIDENT
FROM: Warren Christopher W.C.
SUBJECT: Cyprus Negotiations

The Cyprus intercommunal talks resumed as scheduled on June 15, but major difficulties soon arose over the agenda and the U.N. decided to call a recess on June 22 rather than risk a complete breakdown of the negotiations. Over the past month U.N. representatives in Cyprus have held informal consultations with both sides in an effort to break this deadlock, but their efforts have thus far proved unavailing.

The current dispute between the Cypriot parties is on the surface a procedural one--whether the negotiations will commence with point two (definitions) or point five (Varosha) of the Nicosia communique of May 19. But this disagreement reflects clear substantive differences as well as a persistent mutual distrust between the parties. The Greek Cypriots want to see Varosha opened to resettlement as quickly as possible both as a test of Turkish good faith and as a means of assuring domestic support for the negotiating track, while the Turkish Cypriots are concerned about yielding Varosha without first having obtained a Greek Cypriot commitment to the fundamentals (as defined by the Turkish Cypriots) of an overall settlement.

Indeed, one of the problems we have detected over the past week or so is a waning in the U.N.'s interest in actively pursuing a resolution of the deadlock. In an effort to reactivate the U.N. role, I raised the Cyprus question with Kurt Waldheim yesterday and urged him to do what he could to end the negotiating recess as soon as possible. He said that the internal Turkish situation probably precluded any progress for the moment, but undertook to instruct his representatives in Nicosia to make a further effort with the Cypriot parties. We are asking our Mission in New York to follow up with the U.N. Secretariat on this and to pass to them certain suggestions for a scenario to overcome the deadlock.

MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR LUSAKA OF ZAMBIA

Before his return to Zambia for the Commonwealth meeting, I met with Ambassador Lusaka. He explained Zambia's intention to gain Prime Minister Thatcher's support for a political settlement in Zimbabwe. Speaking as Chairman of the UN Council for Namibia, Ambassador Lusaka said the Africa group at the UN might press for a Security Council meeting on Namibia. The Security Council meeting in New York would be scheduled just prior to the September 3 Non-Aligned Conference to enable foreign ministers to participate before proceeding to Havana.

MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR RADIX

The new Ambassador from Grenada paid his first courtesy call this week. Rather than discussing UN issues, the Ambassador sought my understanding of the revolutionary process now underway in his country. We discussed Grenada's relations with Cuba, and I explained that this might have an adverse impact on how the US and other nations respond in terms of investment and tourism. Ambassador Radix said Grenada would be pragmatic in its relationships and would seek friendly relations with all countries.

UNEF/UNTSO

The mandate for UNEF was allowed to lapse and Secretary General Waldheim was asked to make the necessary arrangements for a continued UN presence in the Sinai by the United Nations Truce Supervision Force.

OCCUPIED TERRITORIES

The Security Council adopted a resolution calling on Israel to cease construction and planning of settlements in the occupied territories. The US abstained in the voting. Arab delegates thought the resolution to be moderate but they were disappointed with our abstention.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20301

July 27, 1979

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Significant Actions, Secretary and Deputy Secretary of Defense (July 21-27, 1979)

SALT: I am leaving for the West Coast this afternoon. In San Francisco I will address the Commonwealth Club on SALT. Also, on SALT, I will, in the course of my return on Tuesday, speak to the International Relations Council in Kansas City, and will try to meet the same day with the editorial boards of the Kansas City Star and the Times.

Testimony by the Chiefs and by me this week (Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday) before the Senate Armed Services Committee went quite well. A trend appears to be developing among most Committee Democrats and perhaps even some Republicans to support the Treaty, providing that the Administration commits itself to a substantial increase in expenditures for strategic forces over the next few years. But the method of arranging such an agreement is not clear, and there will be opposition by two or three committee members to increasing programmed defense levels.

On Thursday Walt Slocombe, Director of the Department's SALT Task Force, appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discuss Backfire. General Ellis, the SAC Commander, and General Hill, Commander of NORAD, also testified. Ellis endorsed the Treaty as making SAC's job easier; Hill said it had little direct impact on NORAD, but affirmed it was in the national interest on broader grounds.

During the week I also met with Ambassador Toon and Paul Nitze, to discuss their positions on the Treaty.

Southeast Asian Refugees: The Department has implemented your decision pertaining to the Southeast Asia refugee problem. CINCPAC has increased the frequency of naval maritime air patrols and ship operations in waters frequently transited by refugees. On 24 July, USS WABASH, in company with the KITTY HAWK Task Group, embarked 19 refugees recovered earlier in the day by USS PARSONS. On 26 July, USS ENGLAND rescued 44 refugees from a badly leaking boat. Military sealift operations are being planned in coordination with the Department of State. Media interest has been high, with press and television representatives aboard some of the units engaged in the relief effort. There have been no problems thus far. State is exploring legal and funding issues, to assure the program is not subject to possible curtailment or Congressional criticism on these grounds.

Iranian F-14s: Iran has formally offered to sell their 78 F-14 aircraft and associated spares to us. We have informed the Iranians that we are prepared to discuss buyback of the aircraft, but emphasized that no commitments or final decisions would be made during the discussion. Evidently to confirm their interest in selling the aircraft, the PGOI agreed to on-site inspection of the planes by a U.S. team, and to subsequent resale to a third party.

Nicaragua: We continue to stand ready to provide military airlift for emergency relief assistance to Nicaragua. However, the preference is for commercial transportation, most of which is to be provided by surface lift starting next week. Although Panama has proposed a joint U.S.-Panamanian military aid and reconstruction team, such assistance appears inappropriate in the absence of a specific request from the new Nicaraguan government. The DoD evacuation force, built around the USS SAIPAN, is still on station. We probably will disband this group this weekend, subject to the concurrence of Ambassador Pezzullo.

Panama Canal Legislation: The Senate passed the Panama Canal Treaty implementing legislation yesterday by a vote of 64-30. Except for one amendment, which applies Title VII of the Civil Service Reform Act to all U.S. and non-U.S. employees in what is now known as the Canal Zone, all other challenges to the bill, as reported out by the Senate Armed Services Committee, were defeated.

Congressman Murphy has been pushing very hard for an early conference, in an effort to have a bill ready for signature before the August recess. The conference is expected to begin early next week, but Chairman Stennis has not yet made a commitment.

VA Presidential Update

VA Rehabilitation Conference - In your 10/10/78 Message to Congress you noted, "The current VA vocational rehabilitation program is based on a 1943 model and requires major updating. I will submit legislation that will modernize and improve that program." Not only has legislation been submitted, but we now have held the first rehabilitation conference in VA history attended by over 200 experts in the field from Federal, state and local agencies as well as veteran organizations and other nongovernment groups. The response was enthusiastic and almost continuous workshops in the week-long sessions generated many creative and compassionate ideas for improvement and closer teamwork. Senator Jennings Randolph was a featured speaker, and I presented a special award to Dr. Howard Rusk, a pioneer in rehabilitation. From the conference we are developing a comprehensive plan for many improvements in the VA program.

D. A. V. Convention - At the recent Disabled American Veterans convention the outgoing National Commander took both of us to task. In a highly inflammatory speech - while I was seated on the platform - Billy O. Hightower accused us of short-changing the VA medical program at the expense of disabled veterans. Scrapping the speech I planned to give, I set the record straight in no uncertain terms but without venom or personally attacking the Commander. My response received good applause, and many delegates later apologized to me for the conduct of their Commander.

Patient Satisfaction - Our latest random and anonymous survey of thousands of VA hospital and clinic patients revealed a high degree of satisfaction with VA medical care. Some 88% of the patients said "My doctor has given me the best care possible." Over 90% praised VA nurses and nurses aides and 86% said their food was good. In almost every respect, our patients gave VA higher marks than those recorded by Louis Harris and other pollsters in surveys of patients in non-VA hospitals. Perhaps reflecting busy staffs, about half the VA patients did fault doctors and nurses for not taking enough time to visit with them and give them reports of progress.

Dear Mr. President:

On July 2, 1979, I entered upon my duties as eleventh Administrator of General Services. I would like to take this opportunity to describe to you some of the major management problems I found at the General Services Administration and the actions I am taking to solve them.

I am moving on three broad fronts to:

- restore GSA's reputation for integrity and competence;
- provide the agency with sorely needed professional management; and
- build a GSA capacity to provide responsive and cost effective services to Federal agencies within an orderly and predictable framework.

The damaged reputation of GSA is reflected in the low morale and productivity of its employees. My first priority in improving this situation is to bring the current investigations to a satisfactory conclusion. To that end, I am supporting my Inspector General vigorously. Within a year I fully expect his organization to be supporting routine management reviews of agency activities. These reviews will be designed to prevent the opportunities for abuse that produced the agency's current problems. Further; I am providing an Assistant Administrator for Human Resources and Organization in GSA's senior management structure. This individual will focus on the critical needs of employees in order to achieve improved productivity. Competitive promotions and an active affirmative action program for equal employment opportunity will be stressed.

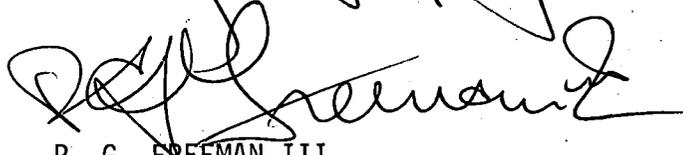

Strong professional program direction is sorely needed, especially in GSA's two largest programs -- the Public Building Service and the Federal Supply Service. To provide such leadership I have appointed A. R. (Mike) Marschall as Commissioner of the Public Building Service. Mr. Marschall is an individual of broad experience in facilities planning and program execution. I expect to see substantial improvement in the public building programs. I need to overcome the deleterious effects of a recent reorganization in the Federal Supply Service. I am appointing a professional supply manager to head the service in the interim while pursuing a competitive selection for the Commissioner's position.

The greatest weakness in GSA's management capacity is the lack of a meaningful planning effort integrated with the budget. This means that the agency is reactive and almost never "gets out in front of the problem". To correct this deficiency, I have directed modifications of the budget procedures to provide for strong program decentralization coupled with five year plans in each major agency program. This planning capacity, when combined with efforts to reduce overhead costs and conserve manpower resources, will result in a much more cost effective agency operation.

Each of these efforts is designed to make the General Services Administration a top flight service organization of which you can be proud. The appointment of Ray Kline, an outstanding professional from NASA, as Deputy Administrator will make a critical contribution to this rebuilding program.

While I am optimistic about the possibilities for the future of GSA, I am well aware of the difficulties along the road. However, I am confident that I can achieve success with your continued support.

Very respectfully

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: WEEKLY STATUS REPORT

Electrostatic Copy Made
for Preservation Purposes

In last week's report I mentioned the strong negative reaction of the environmental/conservation groups to our energy proposals, especially the broad authority of the Energy Mobilization Board. A broad coalition of opposition is forming, including labor groups (UAW, AFL-CIO), the League of Women Voters, and state/local government associations. This opposition is reflected in critical press articles and some Congressional opposition. Much of the opposition is due to suspicions about how the Administration would use the authority we are requesting, or how a less environmentally-disposed Administration might subsequently use it.

I think it is important that everyone representing the Administration emphasize that:

- o strong environmental controls are a prerequisite to rapid energy development (as you stated in your address to the nation eleven days ago and as reflected previously in your strong position on 1977 clean air and surface mining legislation), and
- o EMB waiver authority should be strictly limited to procedural waivers and deadlines, except for grandfathering new post-construction requirements of substantive law.

A recent situation causes me great concern. Administration spokesmen opposed Congressman Wirth's amendment to the Dingell version of the EMB that would have eliminated substantive waiver authority. This was apparently done to keep the Dingell proposal from being watered down further from the Administration's position. Unfortunately, it left the impression among some Congressmen and environmentalists that you favor broader substantive waivers.

The following steps could be taken to avoid unnecessarily adding to the coalition against your proposals. You could:

- o clarify your position on substantive waivers,
- o add EPA and Interior to the Administration lobbying team, and
- o indicate your desire to have environmental/consumer representation on the EMB and ESC boards and staffs.

SUBJECT: Weekly Report

Environmental Message. We have been working very closely with DPS and other White House staff to complete the final arrangements for issuance of your second Environmental Message.

Energy Program. We have testified before four committees over the past ten days in support of the Administration's energy programs.

Environmentalists Concerns on Energy. Yesterday we had our regular Brown Bag lunch with members of environmental organizations. The principal issue raised was their strong opposition to the Administration's recent energy proposals, particularly the waiver powers of the Energy Mobilization Board and the emphasis on synfuels rather than conservation. They reiterated the concerns voiced by the major national environmental organizations at their press conference last Friday, at which they attacked Administration proposals. We will give you a report on the political situation with the environmental community during the August recess.

Wetlands. We will soon release the report of a CEQ chaired interagency task force that provides a broad and balanced review of the status of our nation's wetlands, Our Nation's Wetlands (copy attached). The booklet is written in nontechnical language, and is beautifully illustrated. It should help immensely in informing the public of the importance of wetlands to a healthy, productive environment.

Subject: Highlights of Treasury Activities

1. THE DOLLAR

The dollar continued to experience periods of heavy selling pressure at times during the week, requiring substantial U.S. intervention. However, trading became better balanced on Thursday and the dollar firmed, without requiring support by the U.S.

2. ENERGY SECURITY CORPORATION

Hearings on the proposed Energy Security Corporation began this week before the Senate Energy and Banking Committees. Together with representatives from the Energy Department and OMB, I testified on financing aspects of the Energy Security Corporation. The questioning from Committee members revealed substantial skepticism about the proposal. We are working closely with OMB and Energy to assist in developing a detailed legislative proposal as quickly as possible.

3. TARGETED AND ANTI-RECESSION FISCAL ASSISTANCE LEGISLATION

The Senate Finance Committee this week reported out legislation that would provide targeted fiscal assistance to distressed local governments and anti-recession protection for both State and local governments. The Committee-reported bill is very similar to the Administration's bill. The Treasury has worked closely with the Congress on this important bill, which has become even more critical as the economy shows continued signs of softening. This legislation would provide substantial protection for State and local governments against the dislocations that could arise from a recession.

4. EPG

Chairman Miller met with the Steering Group on Thursday. He stated he wanted the EPG to play a major and enhanced role in coordinating economic policy. The Steering Group endorsed a posture of continued resistance to any early change in fiscal policy, opposing for instance any accommodation to a tax cut in the Second Budget Resolution. We meet again with Chairman Miller on Monday to deal with EPG organization issues and the future of the wage-price standards.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: Rick Hutcheson, Staff Secretary

FROM : W. Graham Clayton, Jr.
Acting Secretary

SUBJECT: Significant Issues for the Week of July 23

Transition - I have met with the Department's Senior Staff and have emphasized the importance of carrying forward the Department's work without interruption. I am quite satisfied that there are many able and dedicated people in this Department, and I have pledged them my support in moving ahead on the many projects we have underway. I have also urged them to plan on continuing their work in line with Administration policies. In addition, I have contacted key Congressmen regarding my role as interim Secretary and have stressed my intention of serving only until a new Secretary is nominated.

I appointed Linda Kamm, the Department's General Counsel, as Acting Deputy Secretary to handle daily administrative and management duties during this transition period. I have formally insulated myself from matters affecting the Southern Railway System, rails located in the Southeast, the pending rail deregulation bill, ConRail matters, and the Department's position on ICC rail cases. While I don't see any formal conflict of interest here, I think this action is wise in order to avoid criticism, or even the appearance of conflict. If any matters in these areas arise, they will be handled by the Acting Deputy Secretary.

Rail Issues: Amtrak - We defeated a House move, sponsored by Congressmen Gore and Fowler, to freeze Amtrak operations at the present level. With OMB's prior approval, we supported a compromise bill that would result in approximately a 20 percent reduction (as compared to our original proposal for a 43 percent cutback) in the current rail passenger system. The bill was passed by the House. I am hopeful that the Senate will act next week on a comparable bill supporting these cutbacks, and we are working with Amtrak to accomplish this.

Rail Issues: Milwaukee Railroad - Former Governor Ogilvie of Illinois has been named to succeed Stanley Hillman as Trustee of the Milwaukee Railroad. Hillman resigned because of illness. This change is not expected to affect the scheduled filing with the Court by August 6 of a plan for reorganizing the Milwaukee. I understand the railroad's immediate cash situation is stable. We are exploring with the new trustee and Congressman Henry Reuss, together with OMB, several alternative measures in the hope of developing a means of maintaining maximum viable rail service at minimum cost to the Government.

Rail Issues: Northeast Corridor - The Senate Commerce Committee is currently considering Northeast Corridor rail legislation. I have talked to Senators Cannon and Long and confirmed in writing the Administration support for an additional $654 million for the Northeast Corridor Rail Improvement Project, with a target of $2.404 billion on the total project. I have made clear to them that cost increases will require some reduction in the quantity of the work previously planned to be done. Additional work would be covered by future normal Amtrak planning and budgeting processes.

Passive Restraints in Automobiles - The Department's FY 1980 Appropriations bill and the controversial "anti-airbag amendment", sponsored by Congressman Dingell, are scheduled for House floor action on Monday. The amendment would prevent the Department from using appropriated monies to enforce the passive restraint (airbags and belts) standards to the extent (if any) applicable in cars sold in the U.S. in the early 1980's.

Transportation Fuel Situation - DOT staff reports indicate that diesel fuel supplies are again becoming tight. Severe shortages are reported by truck stop operators in Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota. Spot shortages exist in the midwestern states. Independent trucker representatives met at the Department with DOT, ICC, and Department of Energy staff on Monday and Tuesday (July 25 and 26) to discuss measures to alleviate the fuel shortage and price problems. I will report to you on recommendations as they are developed. Specific reports are being sent twice a week to your White House Energy Shortages Task Force chaired by Jack Watson.

Principal Activities of the Department of Justice For the Week of July 23 Through July 27

1. Meetings and Events

The Attorney General addressed the Ninth Circuit Judicial Conference at Sun Valley, Idaho, on Tuesday, July 24. Among those attending were Chief Justice Burger and Senator Dennis DeConcini of Arizona. On Friday, July 27, the Attorney General spoke at the investiture of Judge Albert J. Henderson to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta. On Sunday, July 29, the Attorney General will appear on NBC's "Meet the Press" in Washington.

2. Civiletti Hearings

The Senate Judiciary completed on Friday its hearings on Attorney General-Designate Benjamin R. Civiletti. Although parliamentary devices available to individual Senators could push confirmation beyond the August recess, it is hoped that the Judiciary Committee will vote on Tuesday, with confirmation some time during next week. If this occurs, his swearing-in will be scheduled in mid-August (August 15-17).

Mr. Civiletti met for more than two and one-half hours Thursday night with the leadership of a number of Hispanic groups that had testified against his confirmation Wednesday and Thursday. It was a productive session and Mr. Civiletti gave a report on the meeting to the Senate Judiciary Committee during the Friday hearings. His report included his statement that one important measure of his effectiveness as Attorney General will be his performance on issues of concern to the Hispanic community. He told the group in the meeting Thursday and the Senate Committee on Friday that he intended to establish an Hispanic Advisory Council to the Attorney General, a "working executive committee" to advise the Attorney General on issues of concern within the responsibility of the Department. He also said that he would try to double the present number of Hispanic top management within the Justice Department by the time his tenure ends.

3. Leonard Peltier

Last Friday, July 20, Leonard Peltier, a well-known American Indian activist, escaped from the Federal Correctional Institution at Lompoc, California (near Santa Barbara) where he was serving a life sentence for killing two FBI agents at Wounded Knee, South Dakota. Two other Indian inmates fled with him, but one was killed and the other captured by prison guards. Peltier himself was recaptured by two sheriff's deputies and an FBI agent on Wednesday, July 25. The Bureau of Prisons has now moved Peltier to its maximum security, high-escape risk facility, the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion, Illinois, to prevent any recurrence.

4. Judicial Selection

There are currently 141 federal judgeship vacancies (112 under the new law and 29 regular vacancies). The President has tentatively approved 117 candidates for these vacancies, and they are in various stages of the selection and nomination process. This leaves 29 vacancies not yet presented to the President. The Senate during this Congress has confirmed 48 judicial appointments (41 under the new law and 7 for regular vacancies).

SUBJECT: Weekly Report

RECEPTION. Reactions to the Administration's farm policies were highly positive at the 13-state Southern Commodity Conference Thursday.

PROFIT. The price spread between wholesale and retail beef and pork prices remained about 5¢ a pound higher than could be justified by inflation last month. This is down from June, however, when the spread was 15¢ more than justified. COWPS is following up.

CROP. The wheat harvest is on schedule with record yields reported from most areas. Good rains have hit the corn and soybean crops at exactly the right time.

SUBJECT: Major Departmental Activities
July 23 - 27

Consultations with the AFL-CIO on economic policy and other substantive matters of concern are expected to continue next week. The Vice-President, Fred Kahn, Landon Butler and I met yesterday in preparation for our planned meeting with Lane Kirkland. I feel very positive that we can reach some understandings with the AFL-CIO with respect to policies on each of our respective agendas.

The grain elevator strike in Duluth, Minnesota has now affected eight different operations and the prospects of an early settlement do not look good at this time. I have spoken to the Vice-President and Bob Bergland and have advised them that a Taft-Hartley injunction would not be legally supportable. The FMCS is attempting to mediate the strike and has set up meetings between the unions and two companies for next week. I do not, however, believe these meetings will resolve the issues since the unions feel they are bargaining from a position of great strength. We will continue to monitor the situation but the Administration should avoid any direct involvement since the issue in dispute - a cost of living clause - could interfere with the wage guidelines.

REPORT TO THE PRESIDENT

We were successful in working with the Senate last Saturday to weaken significantly all the amendments to the Export Administration Act proposed by Senator Jackson and opposed by the Administration. While the bill is still not completely acceptable, it has been greatly improved. The House version is scheduled for floor consideration today but may be delayed until next week. It, too, is not completely acceptable but with our success in the Senate we will be in a better bargaining position in conference. Senator Stevenson was instrumental in helping the Administration in this effort.

THE SECRETARY OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20410

July 27, 1979

MEMORANDUM FOR: The President
Attention: Rick Hutcheson, Staff Secretary

SUBJECT : Weekly Report of Major Departmental Activities

Regional Housing Mobility Program Launched. A total of $2 million from the Community Development Block Grant Secretary's Discretionary Fund has been set aside for a program designed to facilitate the movement of low income and minority persons from areas where such groups are heavily concentrated into areas where greater income and racial mix is desirable. Letters and program guidelines have been sent to 21 metropolitan Area-wide Planning Organizations. Each of the jurisdictions covered by these Organizations contains one of the 50 largest cities in the Nation with the highest concentration of low income and minority persons relative to adjacent suburban areas. Local fair housing and civil rights groups will be closely involved in operation of the program.

Progress on the HUD 1980 Budget. The Senate Appropriations Committee has accepted the Subcommittee's version of HUD's FY 1980 Appropriations Bill. The bill includes $10 million more than the Administration request for Comprehensive Planning Grants. An effort to cut $700 million in budget authority for assisted housing was defeated, as was an attempt to cut the UDAG request from $675 million to $550 million. With the exception of some reduction for Departmental salaries and expenses, all other Administration requests were approved.

HUD Sponsors Barrier-Free Home Design. The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) Research Foundation, under HUD contract, has begun to build a barrier-free dwelling in Las Vegas. The house will be built with design changes to enable a paraplegic to be self-sufficient. Some of the unique features will include a kitchen which has been altered to allow for access to all cupboards and drawers from wheel chair height, as well as a countertop that adjusts to three different levels to make flexible work space. The bathroom will be modified to provide for a wheel chair roll-in shower. Porches, walkways and garage flooring have been re-engineered with sloping ramps in place of steps. Special door knobs and cabinet pulls of lever design and a push-button keyless locking security system will also be included. The dwelling is to be completed by January 1980 for the NAHB national convention.

Department Represented at Urban League Convention. On Monday, July 23, I was among Administration representatives who spoke at the National Urban League convention in Chicago. In my remarks I emphasized the past record of this Administration in meeting the needs of Blacks and low income people and pledged my continuing commitment to helping the poor. Other HUD officials participated in various activities connected with the convention.

FROM: Warren Christopher w.c.
SUBJECT: Cyprus Negotiations

The Cyprus intercommunal talks resumed as scheduled on June 15, but major difficulties soon arose over the agenda and the U.N. decided to call a recess on June 22 rather than risk a complete breakdown of the negotiations. Over the past month U.N. representatives in Cyprus have held informal consultations with both sides in an effort to break this deadlock, but their efforts have thus far proved unavailing.

The current dispute between the Cypriot parties is on the surface a procedural one--whether the negotiations will commence with point two (definitions) or point five (Varosha) of the Nicosia communique of May 19. But this disagreement reflects clear substantive differences as well as a persistent mutual distrust between the parties. The Greek Cypriots want to see Varosha opened to resettlement as quickly as possible both as a test of Turkish good faith and as a means of assuring domestic support for the negotiating track, while the Turkish Cypriots are concerned about yielding Varosha without first having obtained a Greek Cypriot commitment to the fundamentals (as defined by the Turkish Cypriots) of an overall settlement. In recent meetings with U.N. representatives the Greek Cypriots seem to have shown some flexibility, but thus far the Turkish Cypriots have said that they cannot even discuss Varosha unless they have some assurances as to the general shape of an overall settlement.

The reasons for the Turkish Cypriot attitude are unclear. They may simply be stalling, or it may be that they are genuinely concerned that the Greek Cypriots' intention is simply to take back Varosha and not continue with serious negotiations on the principal constitutional and territorial issues. The U.N. ascribes the Turkish Cypriots' negativism to the current political situation in Turkey. With a very precarious hold on power and with elections due in October, Prime Minister Ecevit, they maintain, is in no position to pressure the Turkish Cypriots into making concessions.

With these questions in mind we approached the Turkish Government to probe their intentions with respect to Cyprus. High-ranking Foreign Ministry officials with whom we spoke stoutly defended the Turkish Cypriot position, but at the same time assured us that the Turkish side remains interested in a Cyprus settlement and gave indications that they might be prepared to reach a compromise arrangement that would allow talks to proceed on Varosha in exchange for certain Greek Cypriot assurances. Our assessment is that, while the domestic political situation indeed acts as a serious constraint, the Turks' delaying tactics are primarily prompted by substantive concerns over Greek Cypriot intentions. This gives us some cause to hope that a formula can be devised to resolve the present deadlock. But this will require an intensified effort by the U.N., which plays the key mediatory role.

Indeed, one of the problems we have detected over the past week or so is a waning in the U.N.'s interest in actively pursuing a resolution of the deadlock. In an effort to reactivate the U.N. role, I raised the Cyprus question with Kurt Waldheim yesterday and urged him to do what he could to end the negotiating recess as soon as possible. He said that the internal Turkish situation probably precluded any progress for the moment, but undertook to instruct his representatives in Nicosia to make a further effort with the Cypriot parties. We are asking our Mission in New York to follow up with the U.N. Secretariat on this and to pass to them certain suggestions for a scenario to overcome the deadlock.

MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR LUSAKA OF ZAMBIA

BY KS NARA DATE 10/21/13

Before his return to Zambia for the Commonwealth meeting, I met with Ambassador Lusaka. He explained Zambia's intention to gain Prime Minister Thatcher's support for a political settlement in Zimbabwe. Speaking as Chairman of the UN Council for Namibia, Ambassador Lusaka said the Africa group at the UN might press for a Security Council meeting on Namibia. The Security Council meeting in New York would be scheduled just prior to the September 3 Non-Aligned Conference to enable foreign ministers to participate before proceeding to Havana.

MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR RADIX

The new Ambassador from Grenada paid his first courtesy call this week. Rather than discussing UN issues, the Ambassador sought my understanding of the revolutionary process now underway in his country. We discussed Grenada's relations with Cuba, and I explained that this might have an adverse impact on how the US and other nations respond in terms of investment and tourism. Ambassador Radix said Grenada would be pragmatic in its relationships and would seek friendly relations with all countries.

MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR BISHARA OF KUWAIT

Ambassador Bishara discussed PLO pressures on Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. He also reviewed efforts of moderate Arab states to obtain PLO recognition of Security Council resolutions 242 and 338.

UNEF/UNTSO

The mandate for UNEF was allowed to lapse and Secretary General Waldheim was asked to make the necessary arrangements for a continued UN presence in the Sinai by the United Nations Truce Supervision Force.

OCCUPIED TERRITORIES

The Security Council adopted a resolution calling on Israel to cease construction and planning of settlements in the occupied territories. The US abstained in the voting. Arab delegates thought the resolution to be moderate but they were disappointed with our abstention.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: STU EIZENSTAT Stu
ORIN KRAMER

SUBJECT: Legislation on Appointment of Chairman of Federal Reserve Board -- F.Y.I.

As you know, during and subsequent to the campaign, you supported making the term of the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board coterminous with that of the President. We have repeatedly and unsuccessfully sought the enactment of such legislation.

Under existing law, each newly designated Chairman receives a full four-year term, whether or not his predecessor served a full term as Chairman. This process leaves to chance the point during a President's term when the President is able to designate a new Chairman; Paul Volcker, for example, would serve as Chairman under present law until August, 1983.

The Administration has been asked to comment on a bill introduced by Congressman Parren Mitchell, Chairman of the Banking Subcommittee on Domestic Monetary Policy. The bill would:

- o provide for the appointment of the Chairman at regular four-year intervals, beginning one year after the inauguration of the President. Thus there would be a one-year lag between the President's inauguration and the designation of his Fed Chairman.
- o provide that the legislation take effect immediately, so that Paul Volcker's term as Chairman would end January 31, 1982.

Chairman Miller has communicated to us his strong view, which OMB and I share, that the Administration should support these provisions, for these reasons:

Electrostatic Copy Made
for Preservation Purposes

- o Substantively, the bill is reasonable. It is consistent with our underlying objective: a closer phasing of the Chairman's term with that of the President. The one-year lag between the commencement of the President's term and the Chairman's term will reduce the pressure for the designation of the Chairman to become entangled in Presidential election politics. As to the provision including Volcker, Miller's view and mine is that on the merits a Chairman's term simply should not run two and one-half years into the term of a President. Had that been the case in the past, it might have caused serious trouble between the Nixon Administration and Martin or your Administration and Burns. Moreover, it is difficult to argue that the President elected in 1980 should be denied the prerogative that we have stated should be given to any President.

- o As a practical matter, this bill is the closest we can come to truly coterminous terms. Mitchell's subcommittee approved his bill 6-0 on Monday, and favorable House action is expected. The difficulty in creating totally parallel terms between the Chairman and the President is that the terms of Fed governors expire in January of even numbered years, while Presidential terms commence in January of odd numbered years. If the term of Chairman expired when there was no vacancy, the President would be limited to selecting a Chairman from the sitting governors. The only theoretical remedy would be for Congress to advance by one year the term of each governor presently in office, so that the terms would expire in January of odd numbered years. The subcommittee has reacted very negatively to our earlier suggestions that they explore this approach. The subcommittee believes that changing all the governors' terms to strengthen the President's control would be perceived as "politicizing" the Fed, a charge we should avoid at this time.

- o Chairman Miller says that Volcker is amenable to serving a two and one-half year rather than a four year term. However, if we were to support truly coterminous terms and the Congress were somehow to accept this approach, they would probably move the end of Volcker's term forward to January, 1981. An Administration effort which ultimately shortened Volcker's term would not be well regarded by the international financial community.

Recommendation:

Chairman Miller, OMB and I recommend support for the Mitchell bill, and Treasury does not object. If you do not object, we will indicate our support for these provisions of the Mitchell bill.

Luncheon/Briefing with Camp David

Invitees:

East Room

Monday, July 30, 1979

12:00 p.m. - 1:30 p.m.

The people who counseled with you at Camp David have been invited to the White House for a luncheon/briefing with you and the First Lady. The purpose of the luncheon is:

- to thank the people who came to Camp David to advise and counsel you during the domestic review;
- to report to them the steps and actions which you have taken as a result of that review;
- to enable you to assess the importance of their advice and the impact of your decisions now and for the future; and
- to ask for their continuing advice and support.

We have not invited either the press or Congressional people who came to Camp David. It is our belief that these groups should be thanked in a different way.

In addition to the Camp David list, the entire Cabinet has been invited, including the Attorney General-designate, and Secretaries-designate Landrieu, Goldschmidt, and Duncan.

Gretchen will be providing you and the First Lady with a detailed scenario and guest list for the luncheon. The program will be as follows:

Electrostatic Copy Made
for Preservation Purposes

1. You and the First Lady arrive at noon. Luncheon begins with your making very brief remarks of welcome and appreciation for your guests taking time to receive a report on your actions since the Camp David summit (the report will come after lunch);
2. At the conclusion of the lunch, Jim Schlesinger will brief the group on the energy program. (Charlie Duncan cannot participate in the briefing because he will be in confirmation hearings. If he arrives during the session, he could be introduced);
3. Following Jim's briefing, the Vice President will provide a five minute overview of the Congress' reaction to the plan and its prospects;
4. You will follow the Vice President with a 5-7 minute statement. Your remarks are being prepared by Jerry. If you think it a good idea, you might want to take some questions from the group. They will have come considerable distances to attend the luncheon, and it would be a good idea to give them an opportunity to ask you a few questions.

There will be a press opportunity to cover your statement.

Following your remarks and the Q and A session, if you decide to have one, you can excuse yourself and leave the East Room. The event is scheduled to permit you to do so at around 1:30 p.m.

The Cabinet and Senior Staff will remain for informal discussions and a reception in the foyer following lunch to last until 2:00 p.m.

PRESS COVERAGE - TO BE DETERMINED

Three weeks ago I asked you to join me in council at Camp David.

We made no rules. We set no limits on what could be expressed or discussed. Instead of fixed agendas we had a free-ranging inquiry. In place of pressure for easy answers we faced the responsibility to recognize the truth.

You met your responsibility. You helped me to meet my responsibility.

There, together, we began framing thoughts and plans that will guide America.

Now, together, we must continue transforming the wisdom of Camp David into the will to act to secure our country's future.

In the days and months to come that is exactly what I believe we will achieve together.

And in the frank spirit of our discussions at Camp David let me tell you why:

First of all we faced there the hardest truths about the state of our nation and all its institutions. The more I listen to America the more I realize how little faith our people have that our own country can pull together fairly towards a common purpose.

We are becoming a fragmented society of frightened individuals. Isolated people naturally band together to demand special privileges and protection. More and more citizens pledge their allegiance to their special interest groups. The voice of compromise is drowned out by the cry of the non-negotiable demand.

These were the truths we faced together at Camp David. We faced the facts of our own failures to halt this Nation's dispersal into fear and cynicism. We faced our responsibility as leaders to stop people from pulling this country apart -- and start putting it together.

Second of all: We recognized that our democracy has once again come to a crossroads. Once again the diverse paths of our past, and the possible courses of our future, meet in a moment of decision.

We can continue, as individuals alone, driven by self-interest, along millions of separate blind headlong flights that will take us collectively to nowhere -- or we can fix our vision upon the uphill road that leads all of us, however slowly, towards a sense of belonging to a secure, caring society.

These are the thoughts and convictions you helped me to reach, and third of all -- to express in my speeches to the Nation on Sunday and Monday.

I told the American people how clear it is that the fears and problems of our Nation go much deeper than energy shortages, and that those doubts I described will not disappear with the gasoline lines. I described the alternative paths among which we must choose. And I pointed a direction -- not an easy way out.

By pulling ourselves together to fight for the specific goals of energy security we can overcome the crisis of confidence and loss of spirit that are paralyzing America.

I believe that by regrouping to fight for ourselves we can renew our confidence, restore our spirit, and above all -- reunite.

I believe this. You believe this. Most important we know now that the American people believe this.

That is the fourth and most fundamental reason why I know we can set forth together on the path of rebuilding our Nation.

The response to my messages has proven one thing beyond any doubt whatsoever -- the people of this country are ready to fight for a secure energy future.

Now we must set and meet strategic targets throughout the country -- by region, by State, by community, by block, by family, by individual.

In Kansas City, I called for community groups to assemble and determine their own goals and tactics. The National Association of Counties accepted my challenge on the spot.

So have hundreds of organizations, trade groups, giant companies, and small businesses. So have thousands of people who have written to the White House to enlist in our fight. So will the millions of Americans who stand ready to join us.

Three weeks ago, when you came to counsel me at Camp David, we realized our Nation was approaching a crossroads. Today we have entered that crossroads. We are poised to choose a path.

If we choose the path of fighting to secure our Nation's energy future, as I believe we will, then I must call upon you to perform yet another task -- to help guide our struggle in the years to come.

You have just heard about some of the fronts we have opened. Our advance must not be stalled.

We do not all have to agree on every aspect of every detail of every bill. We do have to agree to keep our effort moving.

Energy security is the testing point of our Nation's will to survive.

The response of America to the conclusions of Camp David has shown that we have that will to fight for our energy freedom.

On the battlefield of energy our Nation will regroup, will make its stand, and we will prevail.

Because that determination of the American people is the greatest energy resource in the world.

I have never promised that our struggle would be quick or easy. I have promised to lead.

There are barely twenty years left in the Twentieth Century. Together, before that short time passes, we can regain and renew the material and spiritual strength of this Nation.

Let us pledge today to set this Nation once again on the path of common purpose, common fairness, and common sense.

And let us join in keeping it there -- until together we have won our freedom once again.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: ROBERT LIPSHUTZ RL

SUBJECT: Enforcement of Your Executive Order
Regarding Building Temperatures
(Including Court Rooms)

Pursuant to your instructions relative to this matter, I advised the Department of Justice of your intention to enforce this Executive Order regarding building temperatures, including court rooms, to the limit of the law.

The Justice Department then began not only legal research, but an effort to expedite administrative action by the Department of Energy and the General Services Administration.

Based on the most recent report which I received from the Justice Department, the enforcement mechanism has not yet been fully completed by the Department of Energy, and thus to date this is basically a voluntary program.

The Executive Order was challenged in court in Los Angeles, but shortly before the hearing the complaint was dismissed upon learning that you had fixed the maximum thermostat setting in the summer time at 78° rather than 80°.

Relative to court houses specifically, I followed up your notation to Griffin Bell on his July 6 comment, and I will continue to work with the Department of Justice in trying to make certain that this Executive Order is enforced. I will keep you advised.

SECRETARY OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON

10 May 1979

Dear Mr. President:

This is to recommend that you nominate as the first Administrator of the Panama Canal Commission Lieutenant General Dennis Phillip McAuliffe. General McAuliffe, as you know, is presently the Commander-in-Chief, United States Southern Command. He plans to retire from active duty in December 1979, but could be available sooner for this appointment.

General McAuliffe is a skilled administrator, familiar with the problems of Canal operation through his close association with the Panama Review Committee and his membership on the Canal Zone Civilian Personnel Coordinating Board. He is well respected by the Panamanian Government and the Panamanian officials working on treaty implementation.

I believe that his nomination would provide skilled leadership during the challenging early years of operation under the new treaties. Also, his nomination would signal your resolve that operation of the Canal would be fully coordinated, when necessary, with Defense requirements at times of war or imminent war. This would underscore that there is no need for provisions in the implementing legislation that would conflict with treaty intent by authorizing you to place a military officer in control of Canal operations at such times.

Charles Duncan concurs with the recommendation of Phil McAuliffe for Administrator.

Respectfully,

Clifford L. Alexander, Jr.

The President
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

19 June 1979

MEMORANDUM FOR THOMAS BEARD, DEPUTY ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Decision on General McAuliffe as Administrator of the Panama Canal Commission

At your request per our discussion yesterday, here is how I recommend the action be handled:

1. Timing of a public announcement - I believe the most valuable timing would be after the House of Representatives vote this week and any time before the Senate/House Conference on the implementing legislation.

I don't think that an announcement prior to the House vote would gain very much; there will be no "favorable" floor amendments to Murphy's H.R. 111 -- all known amendments will be unfavorable. As you know, an unscathed H.R.
111 is the best we can hope for from the House. But even that bill has shortcomings we hope to correct in the Senate. One of those shortcomings -- the one where the President's announced intent of nominating General McAuliffe could be most helpful -- is the Murphy bill provision allowing a military officer to be put in charge of the Canal in time of war or impending war. The Administration position has been that this provision is unnecessary and violates the spirit if not the letter of the Treaty. If we could point out that, as Administrator, General McAuliffe would obviously be uniquely suited to coordinate Canal operations with Defense needs, we might get that provision removed/modified in Conference.

2. Notification of the State Department - I would suggest that you or Hamilton call Warren Christopher or Pete Vaky to tell them that the decision memo is set to go to the President, and solicit comment. I think this would be the fastest way to move things, assuming that Mr. Brzezinski is aboard at the time of the call.

Signed

Michael Blumenfeld
Assistant Secretary of the Army
(Civil Works)

Labor-HEW

As it goes to conference, the House version of this bill contains policy increases of about $750 million (excluding the Michel amendment), and the Senate version has similar increases of about $600 million. Unfortunately, some of the largest increases to our budget -- such as NIH and vocational education -- are in both bills.

On Thursday Jim McIntyre wrote to the conferees urging them to minimize the policy increases in the final version of the bill.

Energy & Water Development

The bill is now out of conference. The only significant problem is the Tellico Dam, which was added on the floor to the House version and which Chairman Bevill agreed to bring back to the House for a separate vote along with the conference report. WHCL, OMB and Interior are working on this.

HUD-Independent Agencies

Reported from Senate full committee last Tuesday. The biggest change from subcommittee action was a successful Proxmire amendment to cut State revenue sharing funds by $684 million, or about 30 percent of the total amount available.

Get V.P. to help Cleveland
The bill mandates 3,800 extra positions for VA -- attempts to reduce this increase were unsuccessful in both subcommittee and full committee.

$675 million was included for UDAGs -- the House bill contains only $400 million.

Second Budget Resolution

Although the House has decided to defer mark-up until after recess, the Senate intends to move ahead next week. Since our energy numbers are still being formulated, quick Senate action is not in the best interests of the Administration.

so am I
Other than energy, the biggest issue affecting the second resolution is the revised economic forecast and possible congressional response. The Republicans are pushing a tax cut and so is Jim Mattox, who is circulating a "Dear Colleague" letter. Bob Giaimo is inclined to oppose changes in fiscal policy at this time.

no fight this

Some House Members say they have picked up signals that the Administration will support a $30 billion tax cut and are beginning to align their position in response to this.

The Senate Budget Committee urges us either to announce any fiscal policy changes by Labor Day, or else wait until the January budget release. An announcement in October or November would undercut the congressional budget process in their view.

2. Energy

Windfall Profits Tax

Senate

The Senate Finance Committee did nothing on the WPT this week other than receive committee staff briefings on the provisions of the House-passed bill. The prospects for any positive action on the bill next week are uncertain. As you know, the Committee prefers to treat all aspects of the energy tax proposal as one package (tax, revenue uses, and changes in the foreign tax credit). To do so would require waiting until after the recess for the House to act on the revenue and foreign tax credit components.

Rationing

The House adopted a Gilman Amendment to the Emergency Energy Conservation Act of 1979 Wednesday (232-187) which would permit a one-house veto within 30 days of submission of an Administration standby rationing plan.

Floor action is expected to continue Tuesday. The House leadership and WHCL believe we now have the votes to defeat the Gilman amendment and pass the bill. WHCL contacted all Democrats who voted for the amendment and found that most were misinformed on its contents and are prepared to change their votes.

Energy Mobilization Board/Energy Security Corporation

House

Dingell's Energy and Power subcommittee reported its version of the Energy Mobilization Board Friday. The full Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee will take it up Tuesday. The bill provides for a five member board with a very strong substantive and procedural waiver provision as well as a one house veto. The waiver provision goes beyond the Administration's proposal and is causing Labor groups to be concerned about the board's ability to waive Davis-Bacon.

The Interior Committee earlier reported Congressman Udall's bill. This bill increases the size of the board, gives it no substantive and little procedural waiver authority.

Senate

The Energy Committee is moving slowly on the EMB. By Friday, the Committee had tentatively decided on a decision-making Administrator with a three-member advisory board. The Board would have authority to veto Administrator designations of priority energy projects.

The Committee tentatively decided that the Administrator would have the power to require that only one federal environmental impact statement be done on a priority energy project. The Administrator would have the power to designate a lead agency to compile the EIS.

The Committee bogged down on the key issue of preemption of State law. Johnston is pushing our position that State procedural law should be overridden by the Administrator if he chooses. Our best estimate is that this position will eventually prevail.

The Committee will not finish the EMB until Tuesday or Wednesday. It will then take up the ESC. On Monday, they will hear Charles Duncan.

The Banking Committee is negative on the ESC. The situation may be redeemable, but it is plain there will be differences between the Committees.

3. Hospital Cost Containment

Waxman intends to decide by Monday whether or not to take the bill through subcommittee. He feels the subcommittee or Committee must act before the recess to meet the Speaker's deadline (September 10). At this point we still don't have the votes in subcommittee, and we need 3 or 4 votes in full committee.

Republican House members, Rhodes, Michel, Carter, Stockman, Conable, and Gradison met privately to coordinate a Republican strategy between the Ways and Means and Commerce Committees to defeat HCC. The meeting broke down and has not been rescheduled. Their plans have not been dropped, however, and other meetings are likely to occur when floor action becomes more imminent.

The Senate will take up HCC after the August recess.

4. Davis-Bacon

The Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee voted 11-2 to issue an adverse report on that provision of S. 1319, the military construction authorization bill, which repeals the application of the Davis-Bacon Act to military construction contracts. The Committee also voted 10-3, to include in the report a recommendation against the pending Exon amendment which would raise the Davis-Bacon coverage threshold from $2,000 to $50,000.

It appears the Exon amendment will give us the most trouble. There is no central data bank which can provide information on the number of Federal construction contracts at various threshold levels or the number of employees working under those contracts. Since the Exon approach is politically attractive and since we cannot promise any administrative reforms as cover for Senators who want to help, the Exon Amendment could pass.

5. SBA & FmHA

The Senate this week again approved an amendment to make the Small Business Administration a farm lender of last resort only and make its emergency loan programs nearly identical to those of Farmers Home Administration. The Senate earlier passed a similar amendment, only to have the provision eliminated in conference.

Stick with it

6. Food Stamps

On Thursday House and Senate conferees agreed on legislation to raise the food stamp spending "cap" by $620 million for Fiscal Year 1979. Senate conferees receded to their House colleagues' demands that the bill not affect the existing "cap" for Fiscal Year 1980 and 1981. The conference report is scheduled for floor action by both chambers prior to the August recess.

7. Alaska Lands

The Energy Committee will carry over until after the August recess any mark-up on the d-2 Lands bill, citing the necessity to move on energy in the days ahead. Secretary Andrus addressed our first meeting with non-Energy Committee staff who are friendly to our position. Our strategy is to begin now working the Senate as a whole, since the Committee is likely to report out an unacceptable bill.

8. Inflation Working Group

The impression received by many of the Senators who attended the Thursday breakfast was that the Administration is soft on a tax cut. Apparently, most are standing firm against early tax action. We have reassured members and staff that your position is to stand firm while retaining the flexibility to move later if it becomes necessary.

There is a necessity to refocus the group's attention on direct remedies for inflation. To the extent a tax cut may be necessary in the future, it should be designed to have an anti-inflationary impact. We hope to do this in the paper we will be jointly drafting with the Congressional members of the group.

9. Targeted Fiscal Assistance

By a unanimous voice vote, the Senate Finance Committee last week reported out legislation that would provide targeted fiscal assistance to distressed local governments and anti-recession protection for both State and local governments.

The committee-reported bill is very similar to the proposal you sent up. We are hopeful that the bill will go to the floor before the recess. The Vice President is assisting in this effort.

In the House prospects and timing in Government Operations are still uncertain.

II. FOREIGN POLICY ISSUES

1. SALT Hearings

Stennis says they did very well.

On Monday Secretary Vance will appear with George Seignious and Ralph Earle before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The Committee will hear testimony from General Rowny, Tuesday, and on Wednesday, testimony from former military officers. The key media events will be the Secretary's appearance and the long-awaited SFRC appearance of Kissinger on Tuesday.

The theme of the past week's Armed Services hearings has been the linkage of a commitment to a strong defense program with support for the SALT II Treaty. The JCS, Senator Nunn and General Haig all presented variations on this theme. Haig implied that consideration of the Treaty should await formulation of a clear strategic policy and the commitment of funds. Ambassador Toon's SFRC testimony stating that his verification concerns have been satisfied was favorably received on the Hill.

The momentum continues to be with SALT proponents and we are hopeful that next week's Kissinger testimony will be positive, making it easier for uncommitted Republican Senators to support the treaty. The general feeling on the Hill is that the first three weeks of hearings have gone much better than expected. Opponents have not yet laid a glove on the Treaty, and talk of 'killer' amendments has died down.

2. Panama Legislation

Following the Senate's approval of the Panama implementing legislation by a 64-30 vote, the House was expected to move immediately to name conferees. Jack Murphy continues to hope that the legislation can be approved by both Houses and sent to you by the August recess. The Senate bill is an excellent one, containing no treaty violations. Murphy will be tough in conference, knowing that his opposition to a conference report would sink the legislation. The Senate side has already begun to develop compromise positions which will enable Murphy to tell the House that he has preserved its "tougher" positions, but will avoid violations of the treaty.

I called

Stennis, & he, Levin & Christopher may meet tomorrow morning.

3. Foreign Aid Authorization Bill

The Conference Committee completed work on the bill on July 23. The following actions were taken:

- Approved the Institute for Scientific and Technological Cooperation (ISTC) with an authorization level of $23.750 million.
- Approved keeping the Peace Corps in ACTION, with report language stating that by January 1, 1980 a report be submitted to the Congress on the implementation of the recent Executive Order.
- Approved keeping the Economic Support Fund (ESF) in the Security Assistance bill for FY 1980. Beginning in FY 1981 a single bill will authorize bilateral economic and military assistance.
- Earmarked $5 million of unobligated balances in the Middle East Special Requirements Fund for Lebanon.
- Authorized a $1.7 million MAP program for the Sudan.

good

The funding levels approved by the conferees are the same as those recommended by the HAC. Both Houses are likely to vote on the Conference Report before the recess. We do not expect Senator DeConcini to move to instruct the conferees on the ISTC issue but rather to save his fire for the appropriations process.

4. Emergency Refugee Program

Thanks largely to the deft touch of Dick Clark, major progress was made on the Administration's FY 1980 request of $207 million for Indochinese refugees. Dante Fascell pushed the necessary authorization through the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Friday. It will be attached to the State Department Authorization in the conference on Monday. Clarence Long's Subcommittee approved the request on Wednesday, and an effort will be made to insert it into the FY 1980 Foreign Aid bill. In the Senate, we have received pledges of support from Frank Church and Daniel Inouye.

Progress has also been made in moving the Administration's comprehensive refugee legislation forward. Senator Kennedy's Judiciary Committee unanimously approved the legislation, filed the bill and hopes to bring it to the floor immediately after the August recess. Once Secretary Vance appears before Elizabeth Holtzman's House Judiciary Subcommittee on July 31, we hope the Subcommittee will also approve the bill, refer it on to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, where we expect speedy action, and move it to the House floor in September or October.

5. Export Administration Act

Action on the Export Administration Act was completed by the Senate on Saturday July 21. An amendment by Ted Stevens to eliminate controls on export of Alaskan crude was tabled by a 52-30 vote. The Jackson amendments to tighten export controls on critical goods and technologies passed by voice vote with modifications which made them generally acceptable to the Administration. Also passed by voice vote was a Javits/Ribicoff amendment requiring Commerce to deny licenses for items which would make a contribution to the military potential of countries which show "a pattern of support for acts of international terrorism."

The bill could come to the House floor this week. We anticipate a series of amendments by Representatives Ichord and Wolff paralleling the Jackson amendments. Representative Dodd has introduced an amendment calling for Presidential review of exports to OPEC countries and requiring a report to Congress on the impact of limitations or restrictions on these exports on OPEC and on the domestic economy.

6. Selective Service Registration

The House is scheduled to consider the DoD Authorization Bill Wednesday and Thursday. Our headcount looks promising but we can anticipate difficulties if the Armed Services Committee decides to push the issue. Schroeder, Panetta, and Aspin have agreed on a compromise which we support. It strikes the registration section of the bill and adds a request for a study in the reports section.

III. MISCELLANEOUS

The House schedule for the week of the 30th is very ambitious and probably will be very difficult to complete. The Transportation, Interior and Foreign Aid appropriations bills will be top priority with the rationing/conservation bill following. They will vote on the censure of Congressman Diggs Tuesday. Conference reports and other items that can be scheduled quickly will fill in the rest of the week. The House will adjourn on Thursday.

Legislative History. For legislative history and purpose of Pub.L. 85-350, see 1959 U.S.Code Cong. and Adm.News, p. 283.

§ 4272. Declaration of purpose

Because the complexity of modern life intensifies the need in a federal form of government for the fullest cooperation and coordination of activities between the levels of government, and because population growth and scientific developments portend an increasingly complex society in future years, it is essential that an appropriate agency be established to give continuing attention to intergovernmental problems.

It is intended that the Commission, in the performance of its duties, will—

- (1) bring together representatives of the Federal, State, and local governments for the consideration of common problems;
- (2) provide a forum for discussing the administration and coordination of Federal grant and other programs requiring intergovernmental cooperation;
- (3) give critical attention to the conditions and controls involved in the administration of Federal grant programs;
- (4) make available technical assistance to the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government in the review of proposed legislation to determine its overall effect on the Federal system;
- (5) encourage discussion and study at an early stage of emerging public problems that are likely to require intergovernmental cooperation;
- (6) recommend, within the framework of the Constitution, the most desirable allocation of governmental functions, responsibilities, and revenues among the several levels of government; and
- (7) recommend methods of coordinating and simplifying tax laws and administrative practices to achieve a more orderly and less competitive fiscal relationship between the levels of government and to reduce the burden of compliance for taxpayers.
