Re: Status of Youth Elements of the Stimulus Package.
MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: Bert Lance
SUBJECT: Status of Youth Elements of the Stimulus Package

I. New Youth Programs: We asked for $1.5 billion in 1977 and 1978 combined, under the existing Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title III. Senate negotiations resulted in our submission of a new CETA Title VIII containing: Part A - National Young Adult Conservation Corps; Part B - Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Program; Part C - Comprehensive Youth Employment and Training Program.

Hearings on our bill (S. 1242, H.R. 6138) were held in both Houses with a generally favorable reception, but see "Problems" below. Issues raised include targeting on the most needy; more flexible grants to CETA sponsors vs. Federal designs; more recognition of in-school youth needs. Subcommittee mark-ups in both Houses are scheduled for May 3 and 4.

Problems: (a) Funding. $1 billion of the request is in the stimulus appropriation bill still pending in the Senate. Delay endangers our ability to meet hiring and outlay targets. (b) Authority. House Education and Labor Committee staff has indicated a possible move to: delay a new bill until 1978; delete Part B; substitute a guaranteed job for all youth; increase authorization levels. Secretary Marshall's staff will meet with Chairman Hawkins this week to assess the extent of the problem.

II. Job Corps: We proposed a doubling under present authority (CETA Title IV). No substantive disagreements have surfaced.

Problems: Funding. The same as above, plus: our proposed CETA extension authority for 1978 sought a waiver of the limit on maximum funding of Titles III and IV. This is essential to fund Job Corps at the desired level and to implement the non-youth programs in the Federally-designed manner proposed in the stimulus package. The House-passed bill rejected this; State, County and City interest groups testified in opposition, preferring greater CETA sponsor flexibility. Secretary Marshall is working on restoration of the waiver in the Senate.

Summary: The youth components have widespread support. We anticipate enactment of program authority and funding substantially as proposed, but not without delay and some program changes. It is too early to know exactly what the changes may be.

FROM: ROBERT LIPSHUTZ
MARGARET MCKENNA

SUBJECT: Authorization to Spend ODAP Funds

Peter Bourne and Lee Dogoloff will not be sworn in at ODAP until late May. The appropriation for the Office of Drug Abuse policy should be approved this week and funds, therefore, will be available. At the present time there is no one, except yourself, who can sign travel authorizations, personnel forms, or any official action in that office. We recommend that you appoint an Acting Director. An Acting Director must have had approval by the Senate for some other job and, according to the statute, cannot hold a position in another agency that is an agency other than the Executive Office of the President. Therefore, we recommend that you appoint Charles Warren as Acting Director. He has previous Senate approval and is within the same agency, the Executive Office of the President. Mr. Warren has agreed to this proposal. If you agree, you need to sign the attached document.
ORDER

I hereby designate Charles Hugh Warren as Acting Director of the Office of Drug Abuse Policy.

Mr. Derakhshesh, the writer of this article, has a political career spanning 35 years. Born and educated in Teheran, Mr. D. began his activities by founding a teachers organization and editing its publication "Mehregan". During his activities he led the teachers on two strikes, both of them successful. After the first strike, 1949, he was elected to the Iranian Parliament as a candidate from Teheran. The second strike, transformed by events into a political act, had five demands, the first of which was the resignation of the then government. Mr. D's elevation to the post of Minister of Education in the subsequent government resulted from this. He retained the post fourteen months, during which he campaigned for and got a raise in the wages of all Iranian teachers to double their former sum. In 1963, with the resignation of the cabinet in which he served, Mr. D. refused a position in the Alam cabinet, feeling that he was completely opposed to its philosophy. During his career Mr. D. has been imprisoned four times, exiled several times, officially vilified by the government. Politically he is a nationalist, a democrat, and as such, both anti-communist and anti-dictatorship. Several years back he attempted, with others, to form the "Azadegan-e Iran" party, but this was suppressed. Presently Mr. D. represents the Iranian chapter of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession. Persons desiring further detailed information about his career may consult:

The Political Elite of Iran
Marvin Zonis, Princeton, 1971

The Politics of Iran: Groups, Classes and Modernization
James Alban Bill, Merrill Publishing Co., 1972
After World War II the serious confrontation of two ideologies, those of communism and of those who were against it, began. The centers of power of these two groups were, respectively, the U.S.S.R. and the United States. This confrontation has gone on until the present day, and it must be said that the victory has gone to the communist movement. A simple comparison of the world maps of today and of twenty-five years ago will show this. In this period, to cite a single convincing example, more than 800 million people of China have come under communist rule. Today throughout the world we can see increasingly more people attracted to the various schools and parties of communism. In answer to this, dictatorial leaders the world over content themselves with suppressing the visible manifestations of communist power, which, along with their many other despotic acts, only waters the tree of unfreedom that communism represents.

Although it may be said that free countries, especially the United States, have lost the first encounter in fighting against communism in a meaningful way, they can hope to salvage at least something by making a balanced appraisal of their situation and that of the rest of the non-communist but unfree— in the political and economic senses—world. It appears to this writer that the Carter administration is well aware of the fact that mere force on its part will not work. Nor will it work on the part of those countries who make a show of anticomunism for their own ends, those ends often being continued United States support.

By simply taking a look at the world today it can be seen that the most important factor in favor of communism is the continued existence.
of dictatorial regimes and of corrupt minorities-in-power. This for the simple reason that it is a characteristic of dictators that it is easier to rule if one's own people be kept in a state of ignorance and underdevelopment. On an everyday level — one which Americans raised in a free atmosphere cannot reasonably be expected to understand — this policy means the suppression of everyday freedoms such as Americans take for granted in their Bill of Rights; it means torture chambers and summary execution; it means confiscation of citizens' property, and of course it means personal use of proceeds from natural resources. This policy of course only prepares the way for communists who say they will remedy these ills.

Past history shows that the biggest protectors and supporters of these corrupt and dictatorial regimes have been successive administrations of the United States government. By fostering dictators and corrupt minorities, by overthrowing governments and assassinating national leaders, and by crushing the honest protests of many of the peoples of the world, the United States government has killed the very possibility of rational organized protest in these countries, with the obvious result that these places have remained undeveloped countries with uptight, scared populations, all to the advantage of communism. What is all the more remarkable is that this has all been done in the name of fighting communism. Protection of criminals such as Chiang Kai-Shek and of the former leaders of South Vietnam and Cambodia and of some of the leaders of the world at present are examples giving witness to this truth. And sadly enough for the United States, this has all been brought about at the cost of the blood of thousands of its own youth, accomplishing the exact opposite intended, namely, the driving of millions into the arms of communism.
The conclusion from the above is that until now no American administration has appreciated the real power of a suppressed majority in these countries. These administrations have even imagined that the only communist opposition has been from the corrupt rich and dictators and violators of human rights, while it can easily be seen that this type of leadership has no love for any ideology one way or the other except for one which protects its power and position. Obviously these people are even ready to side with communism as long as it is in their own interests. These dictators, by labelling "communist" any gainsewers, however innocuous or unrelated to the issue, crush any and all movements of a national, social, religious, or economic nature. When they answer every expression of ideas from their people with bullets -- and they do; this is not to speak figuratively-- then the people become guerrillas or lose themselves in an opiate cloud, or become communists. Although it is said that Marx, Engels, and Lenin are the founders of international communism, the real ones are the Czars and their governments who, by being more unjust than they were just, paved the way for this movement. Present day dictators of course do the same thing. And so, in all their frustration and fear, many people in these countries become communist. And why not? Communism represents an alternative to what they have, and though it is dictatorship, it is at least dictatorship for everybody, not just those who don't have the money or position to avoid it.

The American government claims to champion democracy, but unfortunately in the eyes of everyone in the world but itself it has done quite the opposite. If fighting communism is equal to preserving freedom, then why do dictators systematically crush these freedoms? The sum total of impressions that the United States gives is that it wants freedom for itself but not for others. And this, in the eyes of the rest of the world, is the same thing that the British Empire wanted in its colonial era. If all these impressions are added together, and the writer thinks that America should understand that this is the way many of the people of the world add them together, then the uselessness of such an outdated and erroneous world view and political policy can be seen. Thus it is to the benefit of 16th America and to these countries that real freedom be preserved and that nations stifled spiritually and intellectually by these dictatorships be saved. If people really see that the United States is ready to help them, no one need fear that they will choose either their own dictators or new communist ones. But if they do not see this, if they only see America helping the dictators who suppress them, then, being desperate, they will turn to the "help" offered by communism.

Recent concern of the Carter administration for human rights and its curtailment of aid to certain countries indicate that the administration is coming to understand that many of the above-mentioned points are true. Of course this curtailment of aid has been called "interference" by the U.S.S.R., which has itself brazenly interfered in the internal affairs of countries. No one calls giving aid to a country struck by an earthquake "interference"; it is clear that the damage of such a natural calamity is to be remedied. If an earthquake is a natural cruelty, then what about a political one? If the free countries of the world would help countries held in dictatorship outside the communist bloc, be assured that no one in such countries would call it "interference"; it would be thought of as foreign aid! Surely positive action on the part of the United States to help the people of these countries would not violate the Natural and Moral Law by which all mankind is bound to live. The only ones who need seek such action would be dictators, communists, and the corrupt. Where there is self-sacrifice and the will, no power can stand in the way of a truly free people like the Americans, who have already secured the blessings of freedom.

While concerning ourselves with action, it must be said that mere action on paper, however sincerely meant, is not enough. Who, for example, can really expect a dictator to give his people civil rights when he knows that these very rights will let the people gather in groups, will let the people publish, will let the people arm themselves, and will let the people secure life and liberty for themselves? A country of dictators is not a country of laws. Who expects the wolf to look after the rights of the sheep? With countries operated by naked force and lack of any regard for human rights, why should diplomatic and economic ties be maintained? Surely any form of agreement with such countries is itself a violation of human rights.

Likewise arms limitation will not limit communist power or insure any real peace because the communist movement does not depend for its success on the production of arms; its real weapon is the continued misery, torture, and desperation of many of the countries of the rest of the world, surely more potent than any bomb made. The only way for the free world to be really free outside the borders of western Europe and north America is to take this weapon out of communism's hands, and to help the people living in dictatorships to free themselves. This is a crusade worthy of anyone who has honor and vigor enough to lead it.
And America is still possessed of these qualities. This of course requires a complete turnabout in its foreign policy, one which is even now, the writer hopes, is beginning in this new administration. This new policy requires that America be ready to help the people, not the governments of countries, and that it be a pole strong enough to offer something in answer to the seeming advantages of communism. This will work to the ultimate preservation of the now unfree countries helped and of America itself. It will probably be seen in the short run to be of economic disadvantage to America, whose economy has found profit in helping arm and feed dictators, but this will not be so in the long run.

Up to now it has seemed that America has supported these dictators at the cost of the freedom of the people of those unfortunate countries, but at present we see the Carter administration serving notice on some of these dictatorial countries. This we view as a work full of beauty, hope, and promise. May it go on ever more fully, deeply, and vigorously to its completion.

RE: CAB Decision Re British Airways

This CAB decision, which becomes final unless disapproved by April 29, suspends free baggage allowances and an excess baggage charge proposed by British Airways.

Unlike recent Board decisions involving rate decreases, the British Airways proposal would result in higher charges for excess baggage than under the Board’s preferred method. Approving the decision would therefore be consistent with your desire to lower airline rates and fares.

State, Defense, Transportation and NSC have no objection to the proposed order. Justice recommends approval, as does OMB.

We recommend that you approve the CAB’s decision by taking no action on it.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Civil Aeronautics Board Decision: British Airways Docket 30752

The Civil Aeronautics Board has found it in the public interest to suspend and investigate new free baggage allowances and excess baggage charges proposed by British Airways for travel between the United States and United Kingdom. The free baggage allowances would be based on weight rather than piece limits and excess charges would be related to cargo rates. The Board’s decision to disallow the carrier’s baggage proposals is based on its conclusions that a weight-based approach is an outmoded means for determining baggage charges and that the effect of the proposal would be higher charges for excess baggage than the Board’s preferred method which is based on a piece system. The Board’s analysis is based heavily upon its conclusions in Baggage Allowance Tariff Rules in Overseas and Foreign Air Transportation, Order 76-3-81.

The Departments of State, Defense, Justice, and Transportation; and the National Security Council have no objection to the Board’s proposed order. The Department of Justice recommends against a reversal of the Board’s decision in this case for the following reasons. The British Airways proposal does not constitute the type of innovative pricing actions which you have indicated you hope to foster by overturning Board actions that disallow rate decreases or stifle competition. The proposals in fact represent a step backwards from the standards recently determined by the Board which represented a significant improvement to the then-existing system. Finally, the information and arguments presented by the carrier were thoroughly aired in the Baggage Allowance Tariff Rules in Overseas and Foreign Air Transportation case which was upheld by the President.

The Office of Management and Budget recommends you approve the Board’s decision by taking no action.
The Board's decision becomes final unless you disapprove the order on or before April 29, 1977.

The President
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

There are transmitted for your review copies of the Board's order suspending free baggage allowances and an excess baggage charge proposed by British Airways in foreign air transportation. This order is submitted pursuant to section 801(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (P.L. 92-259).

The order institutes an investigation, pursuant to section 1002(j) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, into the lawfulness of the allowances and the charge proposed for use between the United States and the United Kingdom, and suspends the allowances and charge pursuant to section 1002(j), for a period of three hundred sixty-five days, pending hearing and final decision by the Board. Under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, the Board's order is final unless the President disapproves the order not later than 10 days following its submission by the Board. No action is necessary if you do not wish to disapprove this order.

Respectfully yours,

John E. Robson
Chairman

Free baggage allowances and excess baggage charge proposed by BRITISH AIRWAYS

ORDER OF INVESTIGATION AND SUSPENSION

By tariff revisions filed April 1, 1977, for effectiveness May 1, 1977, British Airways proposes new free baggage allowances and excess baggage charge for travel between the United States and the United Kingdom. The free allowance, which includes both checked and unchecked baggage, would be set at 35 kilograms (77 pounds) and 25 kilograms (55 pounds) for first-class and economy-class travel, respectively. The per-kilogram charge for baggage exceeding those weights would be equal to the applicable under-45 kilogram general commodity rate (GCR) plus 10 percent.

British Airways contends that its proposed free baggage allowance attempts to strike a balance between the Board's preference for dimensionally-based free allowances and its own belief that the international market requires an approach associated with weight. The carrier contends that a strict piece system is not appropriate in international transportation since passenger baggage must be weighed in any event to comply with certain requirements of the Warsaw Convention; and that a piece system would merely add additional procedures at check-in time, thus delaying passengers. British Airways contends that the proposed free allowance will facilitate present check-in procedures, permit consistency with procedures on its other route systems, facilitate compliance with the requirements of the Warsaw Convention with respect to liability limitation, and accommodate those passengers having normal baggage requirements.

2/ See Baggage Allowance Tariff Rules in Overseas and Foreign Air Transportation, Docket 24869, Order 76-3-81, decided February 25, 1976 and served March 12, 1976.
The carrier alleges that its proposed excess-baggage charge is reasonable and well below its present charge which is based upon one percent of the applicable first-class fare. Contending that setting the excess-baggage charge in relationship to cargo rates is necessary, British Airways argues that baggage and cargo both compete for the same available space and that, with the increase in the free allowance, space available for cargo will decrease and, on those routes which are weight-restricted, aircraft payload will also decrease. The ten-percent surcharge over the under-45 kilogram GCR is justified, the carrier contends, by the added value of service to the passenger from the priority his baggage receives over other goods shipped as cargo, and by the variation in demand for space or weight for excess baggage as compared with the more steady demand for cargo space.

Upon consideration of the filing and all other relevant matters, the Board finds that the proposed free allowances and excess-baggage charge may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and should be investigated. The Board further finds that the proposed allowances and charge should be suspended, pending investigation.

British Airways' proposal seeks to perpetuate a system for handling baggage which is based solely upon weight. The Board fully explored the merits of a weight-based system in its investigation into baggage rules and charges in Docket 24869, 3/ and concluded that weight may not properly be the sole determinant of the amount of baggage a passenger may carry without additional charge. This conclusion was drawn from evidence which clearly demonstrated that a weight-based approach was a holdover from the days when weight was the primary limitation on aircraft payload. To the contrary, the evidence indicated that weight was no longer a predominant limiting factor and, accordingly, there was no justification for continuing a free allowance defined solely in terms of weight. British Airways, which was a party to that investigation and offered its own testimony, has presented no evidence here which, in our opinion, is sufficiently persuasive to alter that conclusion. Moreover, the difficulty of implementing a piece-related system in the face of the requirements of the Warsaw Convention was an issue fully aired in the course of the investigation. The Board was not then persuaded that any difficulty which might arise as a result of piece-related baggage systems would be significant, and noted that in certain important world markets a piece system was, in fact, in effect and did not appear to bar carriers from satisfying their obligation under the Warsaw Convention.

3/ See footnote 2 supra.
The Board also considered the level of charges for excess baggage in its formal investigation, and found that a charge of one percent of the first-class fare was unreasonably high in relation to the actual cost to the carriers. On the basis of the factual record developed, the Board determined that a charge of 0.7 percent of the normal economy fare was reasonable, and stated that it would accept tariff filings reflecting this charge with no further economic justification. Under British Airways' proposal, the charge for a New York-London passenger would be $4.07 per kilogram ($1.85 per pound). Although somewhat below the charge based upon the first-class fare, it would be almost 180 percent of the per-kilogram charge derived from application of the Board's formula to the approved New York-London basic-season normal economy fare, and 150 percent when applied to the peak-season fare. While the Board's formula did not foreclose filings proposing a different charge, it emphasized that those which deviated from the 0.7 percent level be accompanied by thorough and detailed economic justification. British Airways has supplied no economic justification in support of its proposal, which is significantly out of line with the Board's findings.

To the contrary, British Airways seeks to justify its charge on the basis of the relationship between baggage and air freight, and the respective value of each service. The Board considered this line of argument in its decision, and concluded that no persuasive showing had been made that the difference in value of service was sufficient to warrant an excess-baggage charge in excess of cost and that freight service and baggage service involved distinctly different transportation needs. On this basis, the Board concluded that neither the level of freight rates nor the value of baggage service constituted an appropriate frame of reference for ascertaining excess-baggage charges.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1. An investigation be and hereby is instituted to determine whether the rates and provisions in Rule 9(Q) and 9(R) on 15th Revised Page 20-A in International Passenger Rules Tariff No. 1, C.A.B. No. 1, issued by John H. Sampson, Agent, and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such rates and provisions, are or will be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial or otherwise unlawful, and, if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;
2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the tariff provisions specified in Paragraph 1, above are suspended and their use deferred from May 1, 1977, to and including April 30, 1978, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President and shall become effective on May 1, 1977;

4. The investigation ordered herein be assigned for hearing before an administrative law judge of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated; and

5. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariff and be served upon British Airways Board, carrying on business under the firm name and style of British Airways.

This order will be published in the Federal Register.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON
April 28, 1977

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT
FROM: JIM FALLOWS
SUBJECT: Talking Points for Drop-By with 5th Graders from Concord, North Carolina

1) These are children who took you at your word when you told them, in March 1976, to come visit you in the White House.

If they’d been as grown up then as they are now—after all, they’re mature fifth graders now—they might have been suspicious about that kind of invitation from a candidate. But you’re glad they took it seriously—because that is how you meant it. You think it very important for the President not only to keep close to the people of the nation, but also to show that he remembers the kindness and support people gave him in the past. (For example, inviting to the White House the people who had you stay at their houses during the campaign.)

2) You’re supposed to tell them about government and politics, but from the sounds of it there’s not much you can teach them. They’ve spent the last few months working hard and raising money to come to Washington and be in the White House. It took you two years to do that, so you’re going to spend some time listening to them.

3) These students are just about Amy’s age—she’s in the fourth grade and they’re in the fifth. You could tell them what their lives would be like if they were a President’s son or daughter—the good parts and the bad.

4) The students have come to Washington at an especially important time in our nation’s history. You and the Congress together are facing the challenge of forming an energy policy—but the real effects of it, and the responsibility for making it work, will be with these children, when they grow up. You could give them some of your ideas about how to help—holding onto their bicycles when they turn 16, for example, rather than trading them in for cars—and ask for their suggestions about energy conservation.
MEETING WITH THE MOST REVEREND ARCHBISHOP IAKOVOS, PRIMATE OF THE GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH OF NORTH AND SOUTH AMERICA, ACCOMPANIED BY FATHER TAVLARIDES AND
FATHER KALARIS

Friday, April 29, 1977
2:00 PM (10 minutes)
The Oval Office

FROM: MARGARET COSTANZA

I. PURPOSE

It has been customary for the Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America to visit each new President and to bring the greetings of the faithful to The President at the beginning of The President's term of office.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS AND PRESS PLAN

A. Background: In his capacity as President of the Standing Conference of Orthodox Bishops, Archbishop Iakovos is the nominal leader of six million Orthodox Christians of all ethnic groups in this country and the administrative leader of two million Orthodox of Greek origin.

In view of the exclusion of Archbishop Iakovos from participation in the Inaugural Ceremonies and the continuing feeling of unhappiness expressed by countless Orthodox Christians throughout the country, a meeting at this time would do much to obviate the criticism and sadness being expressed.

B. Participants:

The President
The Most Reverend Archbishop Iakovos
Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church
Father Tavlarides
Father Kalaris
Margaret Costanza
Assistant to The President

C. Press Plan: Pool Coverage
III. TALKING POINTS

1. General Courtesy

2. The Archbishop, and two of his Washington priests, Father John T. Tavlarides, Dean of Saint Sophia Cathedral and Father Demetrios Kalaris, Pastor of Saints Constantine and Helen Church, are representative of six million Orthodox Christians of all ethnic groups as well as leader of two million Orthodox of Greek origin, who will feel included in this Administration by the personal greeting given.
MEMORANDUM FOR:  THE PRESIDENT

FROM:  Walt Mauk, Pat Bario, Linda Peek

SUBJECT:  Your Q & A Session with Radio and Television News Directors, 1:00 p.m., Friday, April 29, Cabinet Room

BACKGROUND

This is one of your regular on-the-record meetings to brief newsmen from outside Washington. They will also meet with David Freeman, Patt Derian, Al Eisele, Barry Jagoda, Rick Neustadt, Simon Lazarus, and David Aaron. (An agenda is attached.)

PARTICIPANTS

Thirty people from 22 states will attend. This group differs from the preceding ones because it is made up entirely of broadcasters--members of the board of directors of the Radio and Television News Directors Association. A list of participants is attached. Most are news directors. Three university professors, the managing director, and the general counsel for RTNDA are included. The president of RTNDA of Canada is also in the group.

ISSUES

You may get questions about the Fairness Doctrine and the Equal Time Rule. The group is lobbying for the repeal of both. As you know, the former allows the FCC to oversee the fairness of news coverage, and the latter requires that political candidates be given equal time when they appear on broadcasts that are not regularly scheduled news programs.

News directors argue that broadcasters should get the same First Amendment protection as newspapers and say the fairness doctrine has a chilling effect on reporting. Defenders of the Rule and the Doctrine say broadcasters assume special obligations when the government grants them a license to use the public airwaves and the rules are needed to assure presentation of minority views. Eizenstat's staff (Sy Lazarus) and Jagoda are working on possible legislative proposals in this area.
WHY THIS SESSION IS NOT FOR BROADCAST

As with all these sessions, recording or filming for broadcast is not permitted (except for the 2-minute silent-film session at the start). The broadcasters may ask you why they can't tape and film you for broadcast. You may want to refer them to Jody or me for an answer.

For your information, we stick to the rule for these reasons:

1) We feel the meeting must be held in the Cabinet Room or the Roosevelt room to conserve your time. These rooms are too small to allow a dozen or more "local" film crews to set up their cameras.

2) This series of briefings is intended not so much to make news as it is to allow the participants to get a feel for you and your programs so they may report on future White House stories with more authority. The quiet and informal atmosphere we strive for could be destroyed by the presence of film crews and radio microphones.

Other White House participants in the day's program do film and record interviews before and after the actual briefings, if they wish, but there is the space and time to do that in the Executive Office Building.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: BERT Lance
SUBJECT: Proposed fiscal year 1977 Supplemental Requests and fiscal year 1978 Amendments

Attached for your approval is a package of fiscal year 1977 supplemental requests for the legislative branch and the judiciary (which are, by law, transmitted to the Congress without review or change) and fiscal year 1978 budget amendments. These proposals request the following:

- $9.2 million in additional fiscal year 1977 budget authority for the legislative branch and the judiciary.
- $15.6 million in additional fiscal year 1978 budget authority for the legislative branch and the judiciary.
- $79.3 million in additional fiscal year 1978 budget authority for executive branch agencies.

Additional fiscal year 1978 proposals for the executive branch which do not affect budget authority, e.g., transfer authority and borrowing authority, but which do affect budget outlays. This includes a proposal to delete $150 million in borrowing authority from the request for the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, and a deficiency appropriation transferring $21 million between Department of Defense accounts.

We are trying to keep these proposals to an absolute minimum but we feel that these are necessary at this time. The details of these proposals are contained in the fact sheets attached to this memorandum.

Recommendation

That you sign the letter transmitting these proposals to the Congress.
The Speaker of the House of Representatives

Sir:

I ask the Congress to consider supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year 1977 in the amount of $9,242,500 in budget authority and amendments to the request for appropriations for the fiscal year 1978 in the amount of $94,943,000 in budget authority.

These appropriations include an additional $27 million for Economic Development and Adjustment Assistance. This money is important to help two groups in our country adjust to economic changes: industries, especially the shoe industry, which have been hurt by foreign trade; and communities in which military bases have been closed.

The further details of these proposals are set forth in the enclosed letter from the Director of the Office of Management and Budget. I concur with his comments and observations.

Respectfully,

Enclosure
The President
The White House

Sir:

I have the honor to submit for your consideration proposed supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year 1977 in the amount of $9,242,500 in budget authority and amendments to the request for appropriations for the fiscal year 1978 in the amount of $94,943,000 in budget authority. The details of these requests are contained in the enclosure to this letter.

I have carefully reviewed the proposals for appropriations contained in this document and am satisfied that these requests are necessary at this time. I recommend, therefore, that these proposals be transmitted to the Congress.

Respectfully,

Enclosure
March 16, 1977

Director
Office of Management and Budget
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed herewith are supplemental budget estimates for the United States Senate for fiscal year 1977 aggregating $1,299,500.

I would appreciate expeditious transmission of these estimates to the Congress inasmuch as the supplemental appropriation bill for fiscal year 1977 has been passed by the House of Representatives and will be before the Senate very shortly.

Thank you for your attention to this request.

Sincerely,

William A. Ridgely
Financial Clerk, U. S. Senate

Re: Ambassadorial Recommendations
Carmer Officers
MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT
FROM: HAMILTON JORDAN
SUBJECT: Ambassadorial Post Recommendations
Career Officers

Attached is a list from State Department with Secretary Vance's recommendations of proposed appointments to posts which he believes should be filled by career officers. They include four blacks, and one Hispanic.

I agree that the countries involved appear appropriate for career appointments, and recommend your approval of the list.

Because they are considered career-oriented countries, these appointments were not considered by the Advisory Board.

Ham- ok, but some could have been non-career, I think

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE  APRIL 8, 1977

Office of the White House Press Secretary

THE WHITE HOUSE

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

The Government's minority bank deposit program has entered its seventh year of promoting the development of minority-owned business enterprises by increasing Federal and private sector deposits in minority banks. When the program began in 1970, there was $3.7 million of Government-controlled funds on deposit in 31 minority banks. These have grown to $86.6 million deposited in 81 minority banks. The Treasury Department has set a goal of $100 million for these deposits by the end of 1977.

The outstanding results of this program came from a cooperative effort between the minority-owned banks and the Federal Government. Minority banks have helped themselves by aggressive marketing and providing efficient, competitive services, and the participating Federal departments and agencies have reinforced these efforts.

The emphasis placed on good cash management policies throughout the Government has recently resulted in an unavoidable decline in Government-controlled funds in minority banks from a peak of $89.2 million in mid-1976. Within the constraints of good cash management, I urge you to make every possible effort to locate deposits under your control or administered through your agency which can be channeled into minority banks.

It is important that the minority banks continue to participate in the progress of our Nation's banking industry. Your cooperation is vital. The costs of this program have been low and the dividends high.

I will keep abreast of your progress through the quarterly reports that you submit to the Treasury Department.

Memorandum for the President

From: Jim Fallows

Subject: April 28 DNC Appearance

Jerry Doolittle has prepared the following suggested topics for your appearance April 28 before the National Finance Council.

1. New campaign laws have made it possible to be elected to the Presidency as you were, with no special-interest debts to pay off. With fat cats barred, though, it is more important than ever before to find thousands of normal-sized cats. The job that members of the National Finance Council have agreed to take on is thus far more important than ever before.

2. We have tried to involve a broad segment of the business and professional community in the affairs of the Democratic Party. That some 500 of you are here today is a sign that we have made a good start in doing so. We appreciate your promises to raise $5,000 a year over the next four years. We appreciate just as much the chance to learn from you which general problems most concern the business and professional community.

3. Among these are certainly fiscal responsibility and inflation containment concerns you share fully with your audience. Your record as a businessman and a governor and -- you hope -- as President, have all demonstrated this.
4. You are also as committed as they are to simplify the bureaucratic process as it touches the private sector. This explains your emphasis on governmental reorganization. You are grateful to the Congress for its cooperation in giving you the necessary authority.

5. Next to war, energy is the greatest problem facing us -- but government alone can never solve it. You count heavily on the creativity of the American people and the forces of the free market system to do the job. A good example is the newly-developed Wanlass electric motor, which is said to use some 20\% less energy than conventional models. The Southern California Edison Company worked closely with Craven Wanlass, the inventor, to test the system. So did other private firms.

6. The Democratic Party is chronically broke, while the Republican Party is chronically well-off. We've always been better at winning elections than at raising money. You hope these ladies and gentlemen will be able to make us strong in both departments. You wish you could offer them something in return, in the grand old tradition. But unfortunately you've already filled the post of Ambassador to Luxemburg -- with a career diplomat.
NOTE:

We will have a brief period for full press coverage when the President arrives at the meeting.

MEETING WITH DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS OF THE HAWAII, ALABAMA, FLORIDA, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI, GEORGIA, NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA, AND TENNESSEE CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATIONS, AND REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE VIRGIN ISLANDS, GUAM, PUERTO RICO, AND THE DISTRICT OF COLOMBIA

Thursday, April 28, 1977
10:30 a.m. (60 minutes)
The State Dining Room

From: Frank Moore J.H.

I. PURPOSE

To meet with the Democratic Members of the Southern States, Hawaii, and the non-voting Representatives.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS, AND PRESS PLAN

Background: This is the third in a series of six regional meetings. One of the Members' concerns is the water projects: five of the eighteen recommended for deletion are in these states (two in Louisiana, one in Mississippi, one in Tennessee, and one shared between Georgia and South Carolina); two of the five recommended for modification are in these states (two in Louisiana, one shared between Louisiana and Arkansas); two of the nine recommended for continued funding are in these states (one in Louisiana, and one shared between Alabama and Mississippi). Energy will be on the Members' minds. These states are largely rural and thus cannot depend on mass transportation. In general, they rely on agriculture as their chief "industry," and will be concerned about the farm bill.

Participants: see attached list for participants.

Press Plan: White House photographer only.

III. TALKING POINTS

1. We will be sending the social security financing message to the Hill next week.

2. We need your support for the Energy Program—the proposals and plan will be delivered to the Hill on Friday.

MEETING WITH TRAVIS BRITT, SR. AND TRAVIS BRITT, JR.

Thursday, April 28, 1977

4:00 PM (15 minutes)
The Oval Office

FROM: MARGARET COSTANZA

I. PURPOSE

In a show of support for the President, Travis Britt, Sr. walked to Plains, Georgia during the campaign last year. The President wrote him a letter April 4, 1977 inviting Mr. Britt and his son to visit him at The White House.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS AND PRESS PLAN

A. Background: In hearing President Carter's statement that it was time for discrimination to end, Travis Britt, Sr. set out on a 1,000 mile walk to Plains, Georgia, to shake the hand of the President, with hopes of getting black people to support President Carter. Because of negative community reaction, the Britt family has become subject to harassment.

Congresswoman Gladys Spellman made the Carter Administration aware of the situation in March, 1977, expressing concern for the welfare of Mr. Britt's son and the racial overtones involved. The President responded with a letter which expressed concern for the boy and extended an invitation to father and son to visit him at The White House.

B. Participants:

The President

Congresswoman Gladys Spellman

Travis Britt, Sr.

Mrs. Travis Britt, Sr.

Travis Britt, Jr.

John Britt

Margaret Costanza, Assistant to The President

TO: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: FRANK MOORE

You will be meeting with Mr. Travis Britt tomorrow at 4pm. This meeting was recommended in a letter from Rep. Gladys Spellman. In the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, Mrs. Spellman introduced the Administration's Amendment to the Hatch Act legislation which prohibits employees in sensitive areas (IRS, FBI, and those that sign off on contracts), from being removed from Hatch Act regulations. She did an excellent job on behalf of the Administration. The Amendment passed with slight modification by a vote of 14 to 6. Since she will be accompanying Mr. Britt to the meeting, it might be nice to thank her for her efforts.
FROM: RICK HUTCHESON
SUBJECT: The President's Personal Files

All of the material from your outbox is kept in the "Presidential Handwriting File" in my office. This includes briefs for meetings, all substantive items which you read, and copies of your handwritten notes to Cabinet Officers, staff, etc. We keep the original which went to you.

These items are filed chronologically, by day, and cross-indexed by subject and by author of the memorandum.

EXCEPTIONS:
1. All confidential NSC material (including briefs for meetings which are classified) are kept in the NSC file in the Situation Room. The NSC memos you see are filed by subject, agency and area of the world.

2. Non-substantive items (e.g., extra copies of your schedule, courtesy correspondence, copies of official reports, etc.) are sent to Central Files.

Rick --

Per our conversation re information memos...please see President's comments.

(I think the President feels strongly about these being part of his personal files...and available for his review and work thereon during and after the administration.)

Mr. President --

(Re Information Memos for Daily Appointments)....

Rick said that everything from your out box is filed chronologically....so that these information memos are kept with the other material on a daily basis.

Although the information memos are not filed separately, this type of system would make for easy retrieval and/or review.

-- Susan

This is ok. Be sure to treat these as my personal file.
