Martin Luther King Jr. and Boston African-American Historical Sites Bill Signing Ceremony

Coretta Scott King, Daddy King, and members of the King family, Secretary Andrus, Representative C.J. McLin [Ohio], Byron Rushing [President of the Museum of Afro-American History
in Boston], ladies and gentlemen:

The two bills I am signing today represent a three-pronged effort to preserve a vital but long-neglected part of our American heritage -- the history and culture of Americans of African ancestry and their role in the history of our nation.

First, I will sign a bill establishing the Martin Luther King Jr. National Historic Site and Preservation District in Atlanta to preserve the area where Dr. King lived, worked and worshipped and where he is buried, as a living memorial to the Civil Rights Movement which he came to symbolize.

The second bill establishes the Boston African American National Historical Site, including the African American Meeting House, which was a center of the 19th century free African American community on Beacon Hill. That bill also provides for the establishment of a National Center for the Study of Afro-American History and Culture, with headquarters in Wilberforce, Ohio.

Wilberforce University was founded in 1856 for the education of runaway slaves and free black people, and has a proud history service and distinguished faculty and alumni. It was named for British abolitionist William Wilberforce, who secured passage of the act ending the British slave trade and worked for the worldwide abolition of slavery.

These two historic sites will preserve for all Americans some of the physical surroundings of two important periods in the history of black Americans.

From the early days of our country, free black Americans helped gain free ^{down} for the slaves by their writing, speeches and direct action. They were an important force in arousing the conscience of our nation to the evil of slavery that ate at the heart of our most fundamental principles. The contributions of black Americans in all fields of human endeavor were largely forgotten or overlooked until recent years, to the detriment of all Americans.

In this century the writings, speeches and direct action of black Americans, culminating in the Civil Rights Movement, again aroused the conscience of all Americans to the evils of lingering discrimination that continued to deny black people freedom, justice and opportunity.

The creation of a National Center for the Study of Afro-American History and Culture will give new impetus to to the efforts of many scholars and organizations to extend our knowledge and understanding of the black experience in America, and to make this heritage known to all Americans.

We must put the pain and prejudice of the past behind us, but in so doing, we must not deny ourselves the valuable lessons it can teach us, or let the truth be lost to future generations. If the truth is to set us free, we must study and understand our own past and how it affects the present and future. It is for this purpose that this national center is to be established.

I hope the preservation of these sites and the creation of this center will provide all Americans with new sources of knowledge and inspiration at the same time they give black Americans new insights into their own roots.

Preserving some of the sites that were a part of these two great historic movements will help present and future generations appreciate not only the events of the past, but the principles and dreams that gave those movements power and allowed them to overcome great obstacles.

The historic preservation district in Atlanta will include the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Social Change, which is dedicated to continuing the non-violent struggle for justice and equal opportunity in this country and for human rights throughout the world.

It houses historic tapes and photographs that contain much of the record of the tragedy and triumph of the Civil Rights Movement, but it also speaks to what Dr. King called "the fierce urgency of now." He longed for the day when all people would be judged "not by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character." The character of future generations will be shaped by their understanding of the past and their ability to build on it a world where all people will be able, as in his dream, to join hands and sing together, "Free at last."

¶ AT HIS SUGGESTION, WE APPOINTED A WORK GROUP WHICH UNDERTOOK EXTENSIVE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE TRIBES AND WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF VARIOUS LANDOWNERS IN MAINE.

5. THOSE NEGOTIATIONS PAVED THE WAY FOR A SATISFACTORY OUT-OF-COURT SETTLEMENT OF WHAT MIGHT OTHERWISE HAVE BEEN A LENGTHY, COSTLY AND BITTER LAWSUIT. THE SETTLEMENT AUTHORIZES A PERMANENT LAND BASE AND TRUST FUND FOR THE TRIBES, AND ALSO RESOLVES, ONCE AND FOR ALL, THE TITLE TO THE LAND FOR ALL THE PEOPLE WHO RESIDE IN MAINE.

6. THE SETTLEMENT ACT DOES SOMETHING ELSE, AS WELL. IT IS A REAFFIRMATION THAT OUR SYSTEM WORKS. 190 YEARS AFTER THE PASSAMAQUODDY AND PENOBSCOT INDIANS AND MAINE'S SETTLERS FOUGHT SIDE BY SIDE TO PROTECT MAINE'S BORDERS AND HELP DEFEND ALL THIRTEEN COLONIES IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, THE PEOPLE OF MAINE HAVE AGAIN SHOWN THEMSELVES TO BE AN EXAMPLE TO US ALL -- BY WORKING TOGETHER, BY ACTING WITH PATIENCE AND FAIRNESS AND UNDERSTANDING.

7. THIS SHOULD BE A PROUD DAY FOR EVERYONE WHO WAS INVOLVED IN THIS EFFORT -- MANY OF WHOM ARE HERE TODAY -- THE TRIBES WHO PLACED THEIR TRUST IN THE SYSTEM THAT HAS NOT ALWAYS TREATED THEM FAIRLY, THE LEADERS OF THE STATE OF MAINE WHO CAME OPENLY TO THE BARGAINING TABLE, THE LANDOWNERS WHO HELPED MAKE THE SETTLEMENT A REALITY BY OFFERING LAND FOR SALE THAT THEY MIGHT OTHERWISE HAVE WITHELD, THE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS WHO REALIZED THE NECESSITY OF ACTING, AND ALL

THE CITIZENS OF MAINE WHO WORKED TOGETHER TO RESOLVE THIS PROBLEM OF LAND TITLE.

FLORIDA

Electrostatic Copy Made

- o Fifteen-minute one-on-one interview with the Florida Network News, which serves 70 affiliates across the state, including WKAT (Miami), WVOF (Jacksonville), and WPLP (Pinellas County). The network feeds to its stations for five minutes on the hour, repeating each broadcast on the half-hour. The interview will be run unedited as a special interview segment throughout the week. The network will also broadcast live from the senior citizens meeting.

Joe Brown, news director, will conduct the interview. Brown tries to interview every campaign principal visiting the state, and has done one-on-ones with both the First Lady and Chip within the past three weeks. Brown's questions tend to be personal as well as issue-oriented; he questioned the First Lady on topics ranging from her involvement with senior citizens to how she copes with her own needs while living in a high-pressure environment. His questions on the refugee situation have tended to be more political than substantive in nature. Brown attended a White House Media Liaison briefing this past May.

- o Twenty-minute live one-on-one interview with Tampa television station WTVT-TV, the CBS affiliate and market-leader. The interview will run live from 12 noon to 12:30 p.m., during the regularly scheduled news segment of the talk show "Pulse Plus," which airs from noon to 1:00 p.m. daily. The show has over 250,000 viewers, over 80 percent of whom are women. Pat Colmenares, talk show hostess, has also interviewed the First Lady last October and Vice President Mondale in 1976.

Hugh Smith, news director and 6:00 news anchor, will conduct the interview. Smith has been with the station for over ten years, and is well-respected as a broadcast journalist.

PAGE TWO

Governor Reagan may also be interviewed for "Pulse Plus" while campaigning in Tampa; if so, his interview will be aired during the interview segment of the show, between 12:30 and 1:00 p.m. WTVT will use segments of both interviews in its local newscasts Friday evening.

This is the station which offered you and Governor Reagan a joint appearance, which you accepted and he turned down, supposedly because of a scheduling conflict.

Tallahassee Fundraiser

Introduction

Governor Bob Graham, Speaker Ralph Haben:

It's Good to be back in Florida with my fellow Democrats -- [especially now that your Primary runoffs are over. You can all be friendlier with each other now.]

Florida Democrats are never far from my thoughts. In 1976, you gave me my first big-state primary victory. You gave me your electoral votes that fall. You came through once again this year in the Presidential primaries.

Democrats have a habit of winning in Florida -- and I think we owe it to tradition to win again on November 4.

Florida Democrats also have a habit of producing outstanding public officials -- including some of the most key officials in my Administration.

When I looked for a Trade Ambassador to negotiate our all-important trade matters, I looked to Florida and picked Reubin Askew, your distinguished Governor for eight years.

When I looked for someone to be Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, the #2 post, I picked your distinguished former Lieutenant Governor, Jim Williams.

When I looked for someone to fill a vacancy on the Federal Reserve Board, I picked Fred Schulz.

When I looked for someone to chair the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, so important to our housing industry and to thrift institutions, I picked another Floridian, Jay Janis.

These are some of the most important positions in our country and can make a tremendous difference in how our economy performs and how people live. I've been proud to serve with Florida Democrats, and I know that you are proud of them too.

Florida Accomplishments

We can also be proud of how we have all served the people of Florida.

When I ran for office in 1976, the people of Florida were afraid of the future. The recession had demoralized the people of this State as growth came to a halt. Unemployment in Florida when I took office was 9.4 percent; nearly one out of 10 workers did not have a job.

54

 In September, that unemployment rate was 6.1 percent -- down 35 percent.

In that time, Florida gained over half a million new jobs, a 17 percent increase. In fact, one out of eight jobs in this state today was created during our Administration.

We have some other accomplishments, as well.

We have improved Social Security -- even as we cut the growth of Federal spending. We acted to protect the elderly from inflation by raising benefits by 14.3 percent this summer. At the same time, we sustained the vital Medicare program and nutrition programs for the elderly.

 Under the leadership of Claude Pepper, Congress has just passed Medicare amendments which expand home health care and allow the elderly to join health maintenance organizations.

Just this week, I signed into law housing legislation that will protect the elderly from condominium conversion and exploitative recreation leases.

Tomorrow morning, I will be signing legislation that addresses another serious problem in Florida -- the sudden and massive influx of Cubans fleeing the Castro regime.

I want to commend you all for the effective response of State and local government to meet this emergency. And I could not find a better place to sign this act tomorrow than the Florida Capitol building. This bill will mean that $100 million will be immediately available to the communities of Florida and other states to help reimburse them for expenses.

Property Tax Issue

Let me mention one more issue we have worked together on.

We have heard repeatedly from my opponent the promise to turn back education and welfare programs to the States. He promises to send back also the funding sources to pay for these services.

In reality, his promise would ultimately result in State and local governments picking up the costs -- with higher State income taxes, higher sales taxes, higher business taxes, and, mostly likely, higher property taxes.

Florida receives about $1 billion in Federal aid for education and welfare a year, and would have to raise State and local taxes by 47 percent, or $464 for an average family of four. That's not my idea of helping the people of Florida.

My opponent owes the people of this State an explanation of how exactly he intends to carry out this promise, if he really does at all.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: LLOYD N. CUTLER LNC
THROUGH: ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI ZB.
SUBJECT: Restructuring a Procedure Governing Presidential Findings as a Prerequisite to Covert Action

At your request, we have been working with the NSC staff and CIA on a plan that will modify the procedures for reviewing covert action proposals so as to reduce the number of findings you must sign and the degree of detail they include. We have now developed a plan which we will review with the Attorney General and the DCI.

The new Oversight Bill, as now passed by Congress, changes the reporting requirements of Hughes-Ryan. Its passage presents a good opportunity to make the changes we propose in the findings procedures.

We hope to have the new procedures ready shortly for your review.

MEMORANDUM FOR

THE PRESIDENT

FROM:

SECRETARY MILLER / approved by phone

SUBJECT:

Small Royalty Owners and the Windfall Profits Tax

ISSUE

There has been considerable objection to the effect of the Windfall Profits Tax on royalty owners, particularly the small royalty owners. Between the time the tax was proposed and the time the tax was enacted, many of these royalty owners (with interests in uncontrolled oil) had received an increase in their income, and the application of the Windfall Profits Tax caused a reduction in their net income, as it was immediately before the tax. There are about 650,000 royalty owners and approximately 66 percent make less than $30,000 per year.

In the Senate version of the Revenue Reconciliation Bill, a provision was included that would give royalty owners a $1,000 tax credit in 1980. The amendment would be revenue-neutral, since the $180 million revenue loss would be offset by an adjustment of the base prices in the Windfall Profits Tax. This has been politically cast as an amendment to provide relief against the inequity which was visited upon the small royalty owners, who are described as widows and small farmers.

PROPOSAL

That I send a clarifying letter to Chairman Russell Long expressing our support for his efforts to provide relief to small royalty owners in the form of a tax credit up to $1,000 for 1980.

In response to inquiries, I propose that we [demonstrate a willingness to] make this credit permanent, provided it is revenue-neutral like the 1980 credit.

If this position meets with your approval, we would propose that Stuart Eizenstat be given the authority to control the method and timing of the announcement.

INFORMATION (Continued on back if necessary)

As Chairman of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, Joe Addabbo has been very helpful to us with respect to holding down defense outlays. He has not been forthcoming, however, in your re-election efforts, because he feels that he has not been accorded the respect and attention from you he deserves. The Congressman feels slighted because he has never been invited to the White House for a "one-on-one" with you. He blames his dissatisfaction with you on the "incompetent White House and Campaign staffs". His charge about the staffs is rooted in some unfortunate occurrences that the Congressman views as personal slights. The most recent of these episodes came to our attention on October 7, when Congressman Mario Biaggi informed Addabbo that he had been asked by the White House to make a presentation of $6 million to Ed Koch, to reimburse New York City for expenses incurred in protecting the diplomatic corp. Addabbo is furious because this is his project, he introduced the original bill a couple of years ago, and he has worked vigorously in his #2 slot on the Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations Subcommittee to insure that money is allocated for this item each year. Biaggi has had no involvement in this issue at all. At this time, no presentation or announcement has taken place concerning the $6 million. White House staff believes this problem is the result of a misunderstanding on the part of Biaggi and some inopportune remarks made by Treasury staff. Regardless of who is to blame, the Congressman is convinced that this is yet another example of how poorly he is treated. This episode may be the straw that breaks the camel's back. Addabbo is highly respected by his black and Jewish constituencies. His endorsement and active promotion of your re-election could do us a world of good in New York City. The Congressman has let it be known that he needs only a little stroking from you (in the form of a one-on-one meeting) to get him to go the distance for the campaign. A call from you at this time, expressing your concern about this latest foul-up, and an invitation for him to come to D.C. so he can fly back up to N.Y. with you on October 13 (to spend some time enroute discussing what you can do for him) could make the difference.

FROM: LLOYD CUTLER
EUGENE EIDENBERG
JAMES T. MCINTYRE, JR. JM

SUBJECT: Proposed Executive Order delegating certain authorities in the Refugee Education Assistance Act to the Secretary of State

Attached is a proposed Executive Order delegating to the Secretary of State the authority to direct the operation of the camps and centers used to process and resettle Cuban and Haitian entrants. This authority may be exercised without the necessity of an Environmental Impact Statement. The reason for the urgency of your signing this Order is that this Order will obviate the need for an Environmental Impact Statement, the absence of which under our existing authority was the primary basis for Wednesday's District Court order enjoining further preparations at Fort Allen.

Representatives of the Department of Justice are scheduled to appear before that District Court on Friday, October 10, 1980, at 2 P.M. This Order will be presented to the Court at that time as an alternate basis for removing the Court's injunction.

Attorneys in the Department of Justice who normally review proposed Orders have advised that there is no legal objection to your signing this Order.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

CUBAN AND HAITIAN ENTRANTS

By the authority vested in me as President of the United States of America by Section 501 of the Refugee Education Assistance Act of 1980 and Section 301 of Title 3 of the United States Code, and in order to provide for assistance to be made available relating to Cuban and Haitian entrants, it is hereby ordered as follows:

1-101. All the functions vested in the President by Section 501(c) of the Refugee Education Assistance Act of 1980, are hereby delegated to the Secretary of State.

1-102. In carrying out the functions delegated to him by this Order, the Secretary of State shall ensure that among the actions he takes or directs from time to time, he shall promptly take action which provides assistance for those Cuban and Haitian entrants located or to be located at Fort Indiantown Gap, Fort McCoy, Fort Chaffee, Fort Allen, existing processing and reception sites in Florida, and such other sites as he may designate.
