ACTION

June 21, 1977

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI ZB
SUBJECT: Letter for Senator Biden

After your meeting with the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Senator Biden wrote to reiterate and detail his views on oversight of the Intelligence Community (TAB B). Frank Moore initially acknowledged the receipt of the letter (TAB C) and once the new Intelligence Oversight Board was sworn in, I sent a short substantive response stressing your personal interest in the subject (TAB D).

Given the concern about oversight in Congress, I think it would also be useful for you to respond personally to Senator Biden's letter.

RECOMMENDATION:

That you send the letter at TAB A to Senator Biden.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

June 24, 1977

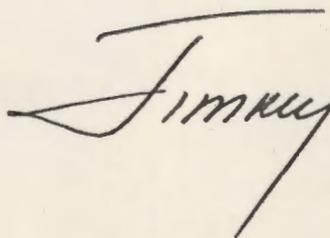

To Senator Joseph Biden

I wanted to take the opportunity to respond personally to your recent letter to me concerning effective oversight and control of foreign intelligence activities.

As you may know, one of my first acts as President was to require comprehensive review through the NSC system of all on-going covert action and other particularly sensitive foreign intelligence activities. Some changes were made in these programs and I am now confident that nothing illegal or otherwise improper is going on. In order to assure this remains the case, I have selected a new and stronger Intelligence Oversight Board.

The Congress can and should share responsibility for oversight. Admiral Turner understands my thinking on this subject and will continue to work with Congress to establish specific means, compatible with security requirements, to make sure the necessary information is available to the appropriate committees.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Jimmy", with a long, sweeping underline that extends to the right and then curves back down.

With the HEW Appropriations Bill pending before the Senate and with some opportunity to still have an impact on the Senate's actions on that appropriations bill, I attach a chart which I asked my staff to prepare giving a line-item comparison between the Administration's request and the action taken thus far in both Houses of Congress.

MAIL SUMMARY - WEEK ENDING JUNE 24, 1977

The following statements are based on debriefings of mail analysts during the week.

PANAMA CANAL -- More letters are now being sent by persons advocating U.S. retention of the Panama Canal.

B-1 -- The bomber issue has not changed; most people oppose construction because of the cost. The letters are high in quantity, low in substance.

POLICE BRUTALITY -- An alleged assault on a West Philadelphia service station proprietor by seven or more policemen has "shocked" many people. A recent Philadelphia Inquirer editorial asserts that nothing has been done about the April 26th incident, and the editorial staff chastises the city administration. The staff also urges subscribers to write President Carter and ask him to "confirm and redouble his support of the efforts of U.S. Attorney David Marston and the FBI..."

ANIMAL WELFARE -- People are requesting that sufficient funds be provided for quarterly inspection of laboratories and other places licensed or registered under the Animal Welfare Act. They report that less money has been appropriated for the cost of enforcement and inspection for fiscal '78.

YOUNG -- The number of letters has dropped off, but thousands of anti-Young form cards are arriving. New Hampshire Governor Meldrim Thomson obviously is waging a hostile campaign against Young. He has signed a lengthy anti-Young letter which is being sent to constituents.

MIDDLE EAST -- The Nation's Jewish community apparently has organized a campaign to convince the President that an imposed settlement in the Middle East is a bad idea.

CUBA -- Most writers condemn the possible normalization of U.S./Cuban relations. There is a large anti-Castro sentiment.

PERSONAL PROBLEMS -- Requests for help still rank higher in quantity than most subjects of mail. People want more money (SSA, VA), food stamps, release from prison, lower taxes, military service discharge, unemployment compensation, child custody.

ENERGY -- Little support for Congress is evident in the mail. Most writers are unhappy with the way Congress is handling the President's proposals.

Re: White House Summer Program

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Mr. President:

Lipshutz and King are concerned about the limited number of women and minority interns. They feel that it could be potentially embarrassing for the President and Cabinet members to address virtually all white male students.

Kraft advises against a "press conference" approach; instead, he recommends brief remarks and some Q & A in the Rose Garden.

Lance, Eizenstat, and Schneiders concur with Costanza; Jordan, Moore, and Harden have no comment.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

THE PRESIDENT

FROM:

MARGARET COSTANZA mc

SUBJECT:

White House Summer Program

I. BACKGROUND

This summer provides a unique opportunity for you to demonstrate your concern for young people and your commitment to bringing fresh ideas into the government by sponsoring a White House Summer Program for the Federal Summer Interns. This program would be launched by a "Press Conference" with you and the interns, in The White House. Selected cabinet heads would be asked to hold 4 - 5 subsequent meetings organized around major national issues.

The suggested participants in this White House Program are the Federal Summer Interns. These students are selected from nominations by their respective universities based on their class standing and their interest in government service. There are 650 Federal Summer Interns from across the country working in the Washington, D. C. area and an additional 350 employed in the field.

The last significant initiative by the White House for summer students was sponsored by President Johnson in 1968.

II. OPTIONS

1) Hold a "Press Conference" with the Federal Summer Interns working in the Washington, D. C. area and ask selected cabinet heads to meet with them in seminars to discuss major policy issues. The Press Conference and subsequent seminars could be video-taped for viewing by interns in the field. This event would be scheduled during July.

2) Expand the Presidential "Press Conference" to include some 350 interns in the field at an estimated cost of $58,000 for travel alone. (Justice, National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Health, Education and Welfare would bear about $40,000 of this cost.) The field interns would not participate in subsequent meetings with cabinet heads.

III. RECOMMENDATION

That you approve Option "1," which provides for a White House Summer Program for the 650 Federal Summer Interns employed in Washington, D. C. area.

WASHINGTON

June 6, 1977

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Charlie Schultze ^{CLS}

SUBJECT: Executive Director of the Council on Wage and Price
Stability (COWPS)

COWPS is now headed by an Acting Director -- Bob Crandall. While Crandall is a good man, we need a new face and a top caliber person with a national reputation. Discussions with members and staff of the Senate Banking Committee indicates that we may have to name a new Chairman before the Senate will move to extend the life of COWPS. (The current authorization expires on September 30.)

I propose Barry Bosworth, originally from Brookings, now on the CEA senior staff, as Executive Director. Bosworth is young (34), but a superb economist with a wide reputation in the field of wage, price, and industry analysis. He is currently leading the staff negotiations with the labor-management committee. He has been heavily and continuously involved in the problems of dealing with inflation, and is intimately familiar with all aspects of the subject.

I have checked this out with Mike Blumenthal and Ray Marshall. They both know him and agree he would be a good appointment. I have also checked with Juanita Kreps, who knows him less well, but has no objections.

If you approve on a tentative basis, I will then run a check with Tom Donahoe at the AFL-CIO and with several business leaders to make sure there is no major opposition.

MEETING WITH REPRESENTATIVE NICK JOE RAHALL

Friday, June 24, 1977
The Oval Office
9:00 a.m. (15 minutes)

From: Frank Moore FIM

I. PURPOSE

Rep. Rahall wants to present the President with letters from his constituents.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS AND PRESS PLAN

Background: At a meeting with his constituents, Rep. Rahall was asked to bring letters from the victims of the April 4 flood. When the coal miners in his district discovered he was planning to see the President, they asked that letters on black lung be included. Rep. Rahall recently sponsored legislation to liberalize terms of the Small Business Administration disaster loans. The Administrators of SBA and the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration testified before the House Small Business Committee last week. The Administration's position on the proposed changes is as follows: support lowering the interest rate for homeowners from 6 5/8% to 3%; support lowering the interest rate for businesses from 6 5/8% to 5%; oppose loan forgiveness; oppose making the authority retroactive beyond April 1, 1977; oppose Governor certification of need; oppose large increase in loan authorization. (Attached is an updated account of the West Virginia disaster situation.) The Appalachian Regional Commission is establishing a program to plan for long range flood recovery in the affected area, including flood plain management and developing more suitable housing. At present, the Black Lung program has two major components. Part B, run by HEW, provides benefits from general revenues for claims filed before 1973. Part C, run by Labor, provides benefits from the "responsible mine operators" for claims files after 1973. When the responsible mine operator cannot be identified, the federal government pays the bill from government revenues. The House and Senate Committees involved have reported legislation which would set up a trust fund, financed by an excise tax on coal production, to pay for claims where the mine operator cannot be identified. The House bill, however, also reopens Part B claims and would require expenditures from general revenues of $1.5 billion in the next 3 years. In addition, the House bill provides automatic entitlement for benefits to miners who have worked in the mines for 25 to 30 years, depending on the type of mine. The House bill is so expensive and controversial that so far it has been unable to get out of the Rules Committee. Both the Senate and House bills have other less significant provisions which the Labor Department and HEW oppose.

x

Participants: The President, Rep. Rahall, Frank Moore, Bill Cable.

Press Plan: White House photographer only.

III. TALKING POINTS

1. As of last week, 82% of the families eligible for temporary housing had been placed; 100% of the Emergency Food Stamp loans had been processed.
2. The Department of Housing and Urban Development, in conjunction with the Small Business Administration, is working hard to alleviate the problems of the flood victims.
3. The Administration recognizes that the Black Lung program has not worked well enough, and that many people who deserve benefits have not received them.
4. We support the concept contained in both the House and Senate bills of setting up a trust fund financed by an excise tax on coal production to pay for benefits when the responsible mine operator cannot be identified. It is only fair that coal operators, rather than the general public, pay for Black Lung claims. This is one way to assure that operators attempt to remove conditions which cause Black Lung.
5. The Administration is looking carefully at other provisions of the House and Senate bills, but is concerned about those which require use of general revenues as opposed to the special trust fund.

BACKGROUND PAPER
MAJOR DISASTER DECLARATION
WEST VIRGINIA

GENERAL

Upon the request of Governor Rockefeller on April 6, the President declared West Virginia a major disaster area on April 7, as the result of severe storms and floods of record, beginning about April 3. The counties designated as eligible for Federal disaster assistance are:

Cabell	Mercer
Greenbrier	Mingo
Lincoln	Raleigh
Logan	Summers
McDowell	Wayne

Wyoming

These are highlighted on the attached map. The two most severely affected towns were Matewan and Williamson in Mingo County.

A Disaster Field Office was opened in Bluefield on April 9, under the supervision of Mr. Arthur T. Doyle, Director of Region III of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The Office was relocated to Charleston on June 4.

Problems in general related to the destruction of housing, debris clearance, and damage to or destruction of water and sewer systems and streets, roads and bridges. Federal efforts and problem areas will be described under the categories of assistance to individuals and to governments.

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE TO INDIVIDUALS

On April 9, Disaster Assistance Centers were opened in five communities. These Centers were locations to which disaster victims could come to learn about programs of assistance being made available by Federal, State and volunteer agencies, and to make application for those programs for which they were eligible. Mobile teams were established to reach those areas not readily accessible to Disaster Assistance Centers. During the period April 9, when the first Centers opened, to May 10, when the last Center closed, a total of 19 communities were served by either Disaster Assistance Centers or mobile teams. A total of 21,876 people registered at the Centers. The dates and locations of Center and mobile team operations are listed in an attachment to this report.

Temporary Housing Assistance

The most visible, and difficult to administer, program of individual assistance is temporary housing. In West Virginia, 3,263 applications were received for this assistance, and 2,165 of these have been determined eligible for this program. The temporary housing requirement is being met primarily through the use of mobile homes, of which it is estimated 1,050 will be required, and a program of minimal repair to flood damaged residences to make them habitable. Through Sunday, June 19, 1,789 families, or 82 percent of the total requirement, were housed, 449 in mobile homes, 922 through the mini repair program, and the remainder through the use of travel trailers, and available private rentals.

The nature of the disaster and the almost total lack of alternate housing resources in the disaster area dictated that much of the temporary housing would have to be provided in the form of mobile homes. Of all the forms of temporary housing, this is the most difficult to provide, particularly when large numbers of units are required. The logistics involved include the movement of the mobile homes themselves, the identification of suitable sites, and the identification and hiring of contractors for site development and utilities installation and hookups.

These normal problems were compounded in West Virginia by a number of factors, including:

- the requirement to engage in a substantial emergency housing operation due to lack of alternate shelter in the area;
- the nature of the terrain which made the movement of mobile homes difficult;
- the difficulty in identifying sites for location of mobile home clusters, outside the flood plain;
- the sparse contractor availability in the area, compared to magnitude of the task;
- the initial desire of the State to lease land, with an option to buy, outside the flood plain for longer term housing development in the flood area.

In order to facilitate the delivery of assistance, a number of administrative actions were taken:

- The FDAA Administrator determined it to be in the public interest for the Federal Government to pay for the cost of site development and utilities installation;

- The FDAA Administrator authorized the Assistant Secretary for Housing to use the services of the Corps of Engineers in developing sites and in mini-repair operations;
- The maximum cost guidelines for mini-repair operations were raised to provide that mini-repair could be undertaken if the cost did not exceed $5,500 for a residence. Additionally, up to $1,200 each was authorized for the drilling of wells and the installation of septic tanks, associated with a mini-repair operation;
- The Assistant Secretary for Housing waived the restriction against locating temporary housing in the flood plain;
- In cases where people had purchased their own mobile homes to meet their need for housing, Federal reimbursement for site development cost was authorized.

Given the magnitude of the problem, provision of temporary housing is proceeding about as well as can be expected.

Individual and Family Grants

This program provides for a grant, not to exceed $5,000, to an individual or family with disaster-related necessary expenses or serious needs which are not met by other Federal programs or by other means. The program is administered by the State, and is funded on a shared basis, with 75 percent of the funds provided by the Federal Government and the remainder from funds made available by the State.

Through June 17, the latest data available show that 4,200 applications for this program have been received. Of this number, 111 applications were subsequently withdrawn, and the State's review panels have taken action on 1,639 -- disapproving 440 and approving 1,199 for a total of $3,408,000.

Total cost of this program to the Federal Government is estimated at $8,750,000. An amount of $3,750,000 has been advanced to the State.

Disaster Unemployment Assistance

A total of 3,840 claims have been filed for this program, and 3,810 have been approved. Data available through June 14 indicates that $201,000 has been paid to 3,733 applicants. Total estimated Federal cost of this program is $500,000.

Emergency Food Stamps

Over 20,700 applications for Emergency Food Stamps were received in West Virginia and 17,213 of these were approved. The total value of food stamps issued under this program is expected to be $2,417,000.

Small Business Administration Loans

SBA expects to approve 1,000 disaster loans for home and personal property damage, and 200 business disaster loans. Home and personal property loans are expected to amount to $10,000,000 and business loans to $15,000,000. Through June 15, 584 home/personal property loans had been approved for a total of $6,622,000, and 85 business loans had been approved for $7,519,000.

Speculation is that loan applications are slow in coming, pending action on legislation which would lower interest rates from the current 6-5/8 percent and would reintroduce loan forgiveness provisions. Administration witnesses testified before a subcommittee of the House Small Business Committee on Monday, June 13, in support of the Administration's position to lower current disaster loan interest rates to 3 percent for home and personal property loans and to 5 percent for business loans, with no forgiveness. Small Business Administrator Weaver indicated a willingness to accept the retroactive application of these reduced rates to cover loans already approved in the four-State Appalachian flood disaster area.

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE TO STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

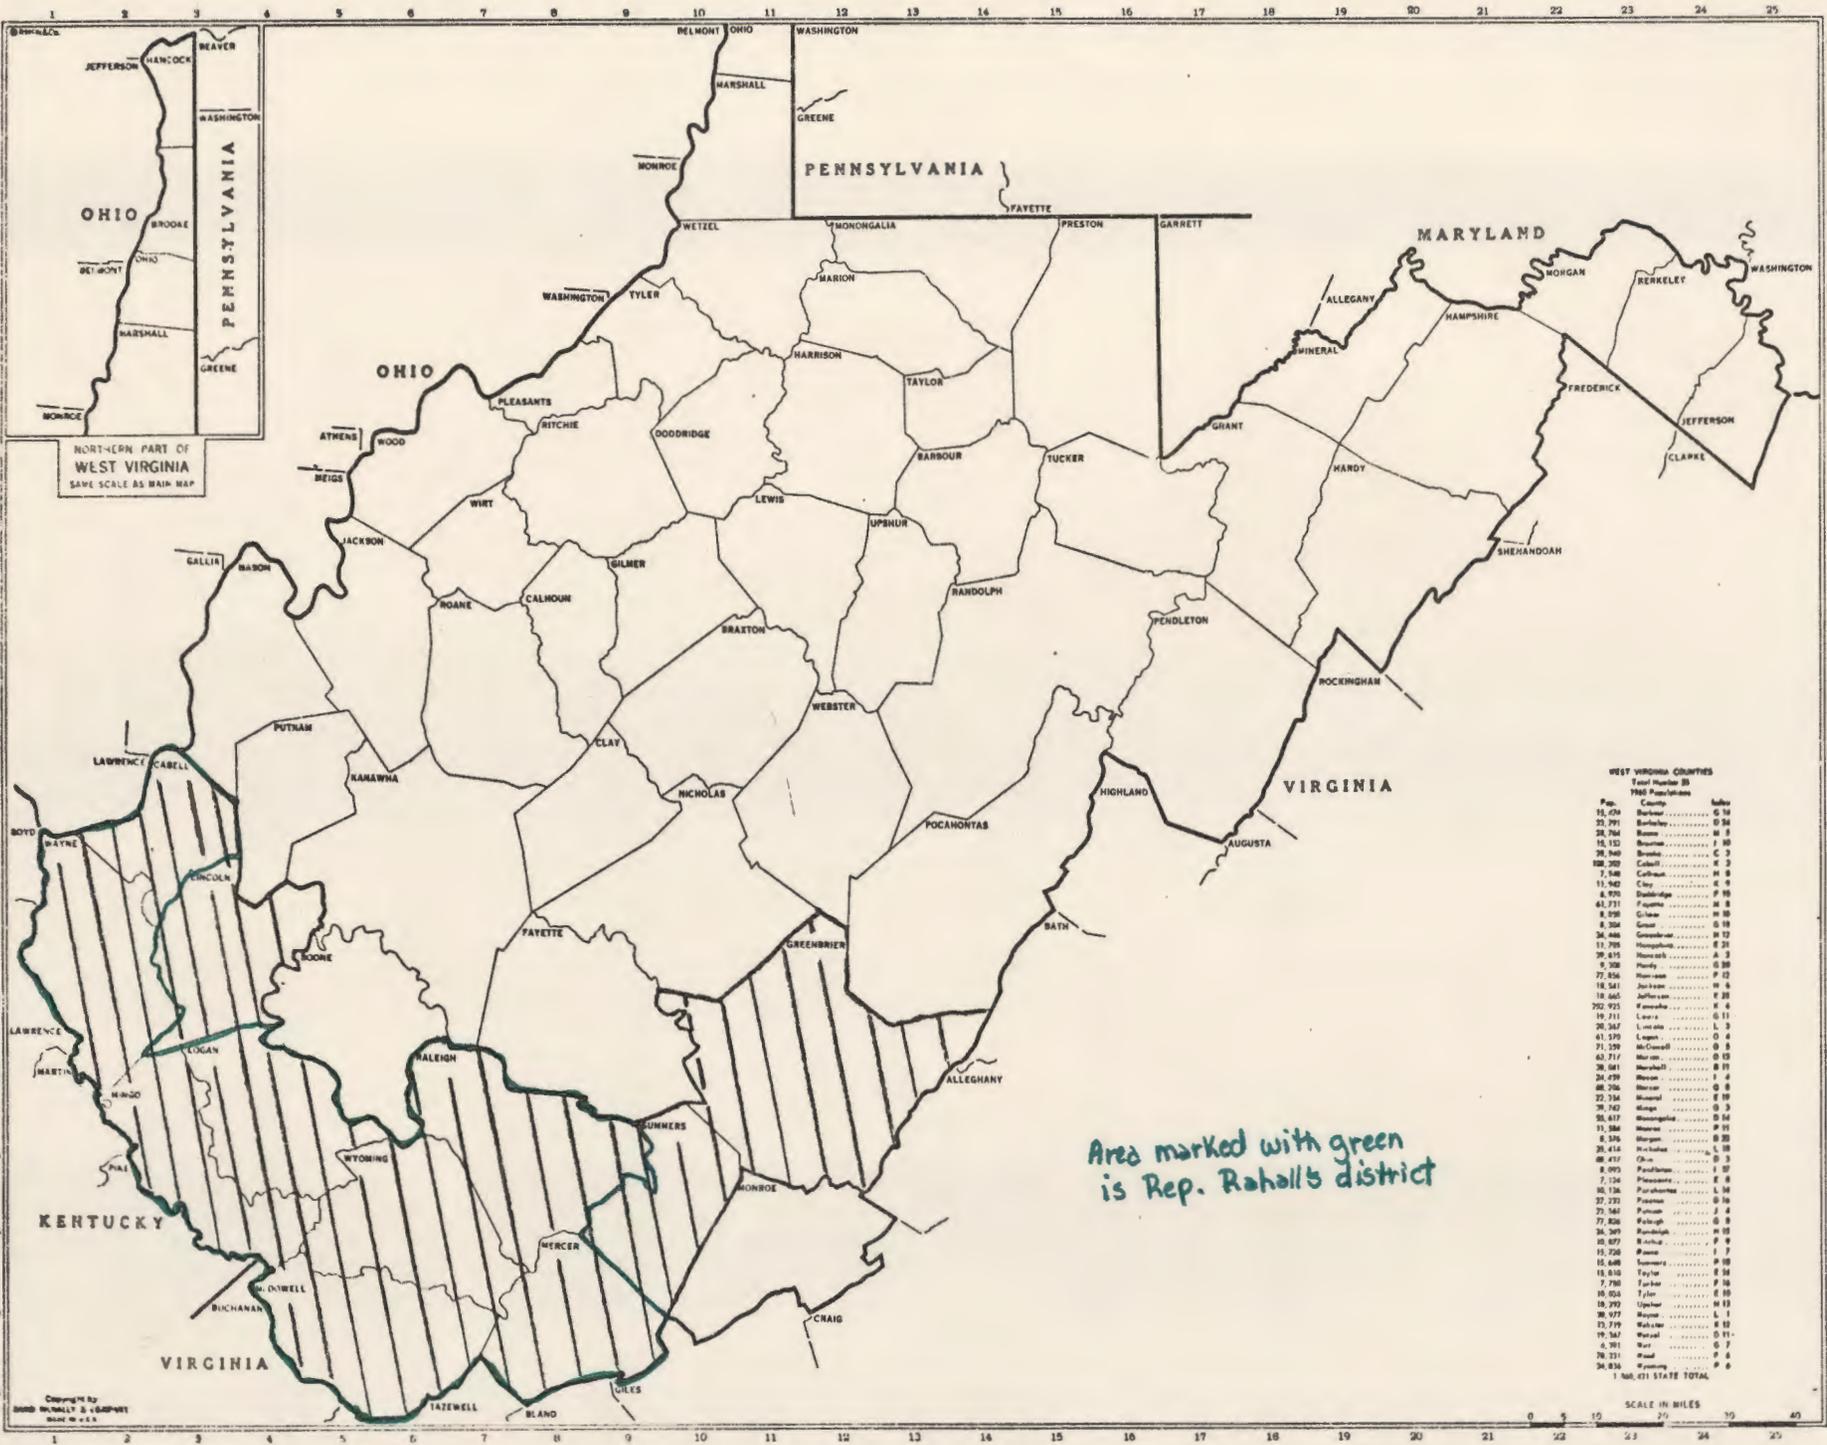

A major disaster declaration makes Federal funds available to reimburse governments for the cost of protective measures and debris clearance and for the permanent repair or restoration of damaged or destroyed public facilities. These funds are made available either by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration under the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 or by other Federal agencies under their own disaster authorities. FDAA expects to receive 56 applications for public assistance. Through June 19, 53 applications had been received and 48 approved, with the remainder undergoing review. Total estimated cost of assistance funded through the President's Disaster Relief Fund is $18,463,000, distributed as follows:

Road systems (non-Federal aid)- - - - -	$ 8,290,000	(45%)
Debris clearance- - - - -	5,000,000	(27%)
Public buildings- - - - -	2,246,000	(12%)
Public utilities- - - - -	1,961,000	(11%)
Other - - - - -	966,000	(5%)
Total	$18,463,000

In addition, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare expects to provide $5,396,000 in assistance for damaged or destroyed schools, and the Federal Highway Administration anticipates the expenditure of $2,117,000 for repairs to Federal Aid System roads.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI ZB
SUBJECT: Ambassador Smith's Appointment

We now have many important proliferation issues in active negotiation or waiting for some attention. A few examples are: creation of the international fuel cycle evaluation program, French agreement to full scope safeguards, resolution of the Israeli/Egypt reactor deals, and the German-Brazilian contract. It is therefore of the utmost importance that Jerry Smith begin his duties as soon as possible.

Perhaps we should work out some form of interim appointment whereby he could begin immediately while the formalities of background investigations and Senate debate are being completed. It is particularly important that Smith be available to follow through with the French on your response to Giscard's letter.

If you approve an interim appointment, I will proceed with Ham on the details.

Your briefing paper on Jim Wright indicates that he is against the breeder. This is inaccurate. He is for the breeder.

The Speaker had a conversation with Wright this morning, and Wright advised that it looked like he would have to change to support his President. A small bump from you at lunch could get him with us.

SUBJECT:

DROP BY WEEKLY CONGRESSIONAL LIAISON MEETING TODAY

I think it would be good if you could briefly mention a few specific items and then allow a couple minutes for questions or comments.

1. In general, you should compliment everyone on the significant recent progress in congressional relations as a whole and the successes we have had through cooperation with the Departments and Agencies.

Specifically, you might mention:

- The work Interior did on water projects;
 - The work the State Department has done on human rights;
 - Treasury's job on counter cyclical; -
 - Commerce's work on the Arab boycott; and
 - Everyone's joint cooperation on energy.
2. You might mention a couple of things that are coming up that you hope they will work very hard for, such as
 - voter registration
 - breeder reactor
 - pending treaties with Panama and SALT
 - renegotiation board
