Records of the Council of Economic Advisers: A Guide to Its Records at the Jimmy Carter Library

Collection Summary

Creator: Council of Economic Advisers

Title: Records of the Council of Economic Advisers

Dates: ca. 1976 - 1981

Quantity: 265 linear feet, 7 linear inches; 607 Containers

Identification:

Accession Number: 80-1

National Archives Identifier: 560384

Scope and Content:

These files consist of correspondence, memoranda, briefing books, testimony, speeches, reports, and miscellaneous printed material. The material in this collection reflects the duties of the Council of Economic Advisers to assist the President in dealing with both foreign and domestic economic issues. The material details the policy making process for various aspects of foreign and domestic economic issues. Major topics include imports, exports, trade and economic policies, and conditions of foreign countries. Specific problems and actions which have major impacts on the United States economy are highlighted in the material. Also included are materials used in the compilation of various economic reports and federal budget formulation. Material from international economic organizations, summits and correspondence from the general public is also present.

Creator Information: Council of Economic Advisers

The Employment Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 24; 15 USC 1023) established the Council of Economic Advisers (CEA) as a part of the Executive Office of the President. Its purpose is to provide the President with unbiased economic analysis and advice on developing, implementing and monitoring international and domestic economic policy issues. The Council consists of three members appointed by the President, with one member serving as chair. In addition, the Council employs other professionals to serve as senior staff economists. There are also junior staff economists who assist the senior staff. Junior staff economists are often advanced graduate students serving for a limited time. All senior and junior staff economists work within certain areas of responsibility, such as agriculture, macroeconomics or labor. The use of professional and academic personnel ensures a high level of technical economic sophistication and knowledge of current economic thinking. In addition, members and staff use their connections to the academic community to help obtain advice on various issues. Charles L. Schultze served as chair during the years of the Carter administration.
