

Jimmy Carter Presidential Library
News21-11
September 1, 2021

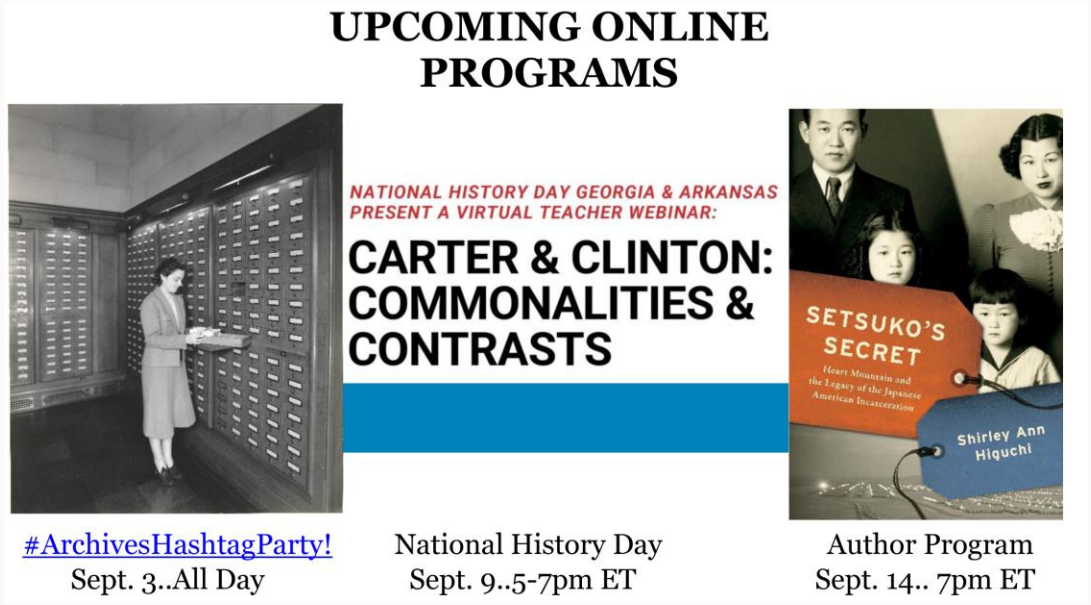

The Jimmy Carter Presidential Museum is following CDC and National Archives guidelines for the health and safety of our visitors and staff. Please check our reopening status here.

From Our Director

With the safety of our visitors and staff at the forefront of my mind we have closed the Carter Presidential Library and Museum. It was difficult and disappointing to turn away researchers and museum guests but the surge in the number of Covid-19 cases in Fulton County is above the recommended limits. You can check on our status at www.jimmycarterlibrary.gov.

Until our parent agency, the National Archives, authorizes us to reopen you can join us for a host of online educational, author and film programs. You can even take a virtual tour of the Carter museum on our Youtube Channel. And while you're there, be sure to subscribe. The more subscribers we get, the easier it is for us to reach others. And--just in time for President Carter's birthday and the anniversary of the opening of the Carter Library and Museum--we will be featured in a live program hosted by the Archives Foundation in the coming weeks. Watch out for the link, we'll be sending it out as the program date nears.
Thank you for your patience and support. Stay Safe.

Join us for these online events: The old time photo-filled Hashtag party, a National History Day Webinar and the touching personal story of Japanese Americans incarcerated in their own country during World War Two.

From the Archives - Join Us Sept. 3 for a #ArchivesHashtagParty

Hello Party People! Who's ready for a throwback to the analog and retro classics that are hanging out in archival collections? We're heading back to #ArchivesOldSchool for the next #ArchivesHashtagParty! Synchronize your watches and set that VCR to record for Friday, September 3rd on Twitter and Instagram. Join in on the fun and kick it #ArchivesOldSchool with us at any time for this all-day event.

Carter & Clinton: Commonalities & Contrasts…Thursday, Sept. 9 from 5pm-7pm

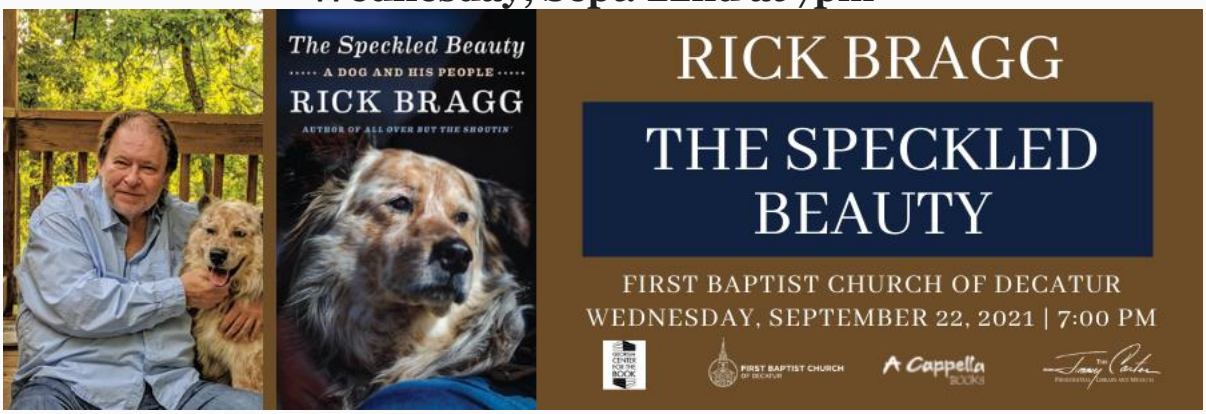

To kick off National History Day and the 2021-2022 school year, the Carter and Clinton Presidential Libraries will be teaming up on Thursday, September 9, 2021, 5-7pm EST, to present Carter & Clinton: Commonalities & Contrasts.

This workshop for educators will be highlighting the connections between these southern governors-turned presidents and their viability for this year's NHD theme, Debate & Diplomacy in History: Successes, Failures, Consequences. To attend, complete the Online Registration Form.
For more information on this year's contest, visit the official website of National History Day.

Setsuko's Secret Author Program...Sept. 14 at 7pm
On February 19, 1942, President Franklin Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066 which led to the incarceration of nearly 120,000 persons of Japanese ancestry during World War Two. Author Shirley Ann Higuchi's parents were among those incarcerated. "Stripped of their homes and livelihoods, the newly confined prisoners steadily lost any sense of privacy they had had." Join us Tuesday, September 14th at 7pm for Shirley Ann Higuchi and a discussion of her book "Setsuko's Secret." As children, Higuchi and her brothers knew Heart Mountain only as the place their parents met, imagining it as a great Stardust Ballroom in rural Wyoming. As they grew older, they would come to recognize the name as a source of great sadness and shame for their older family members. The Carter Presidential Library and the Heart Mountain Interpretive Center host author Shirley Ann Higuchi in conversation with Doug Nelson, Vice Chair of the Heart Mountain Wyoming Foundation. Registration required
The online program is free and open to the public.

On The History Channel

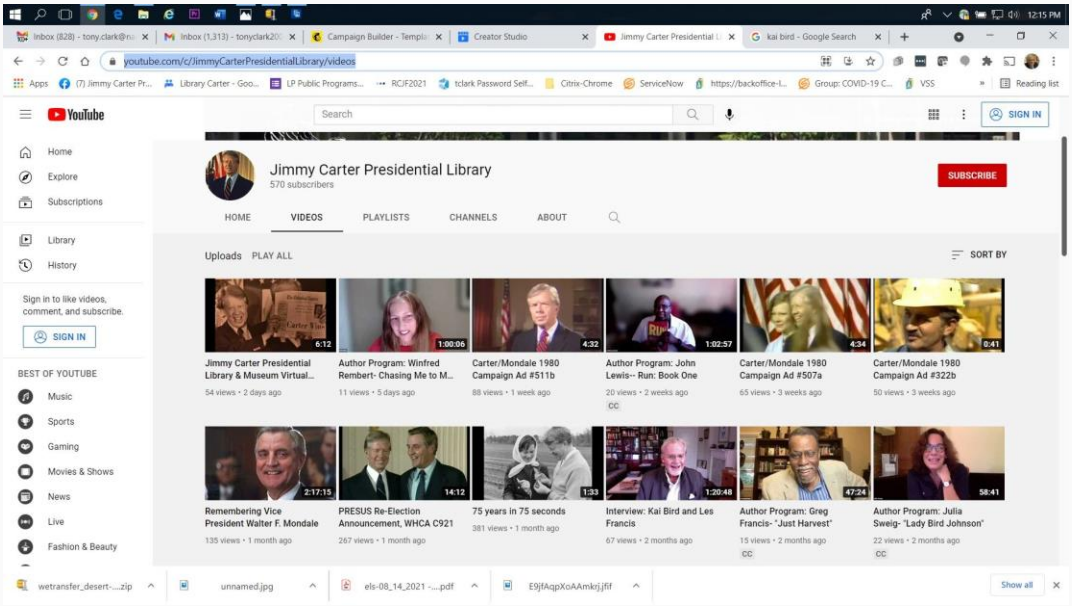

The Carter Library and Georgia Public Broadcasting will present an online preview screening of the PBS program "In Their Own Words: Jimmy Carter." And don't miss the History Channel's presentation of

"Desert One" about the attempt to rescue Americans being held hostage in Iran.

Georgia Public Broadcasting and the Jimmy Carter Library Present In Their Own Words: Jimmy Carter. Advance screening & discussion Thursday, Sept. 23 at 7pm.
Explore this intimate and inspiring story of a long-shot outsider who beat the odds against him again and again and never looked back in his quest to better the lives of millions. Jimmy Carter's journey from poor, rural peanut farmer to become the 39th president of the United States will be revealed to be a story of faith, determination and humanity. Register for this free preview screening and discussion here.

History Channel to present "Desert One" Sunday, Sept. 12 at 8pm ET
Using new archival sources and unprecedented access to key players on both sides, Academy Award winning documentarian Barbara Kopple reveals the true story behind one of the most daring rescues in modern US history: a secret mission to free hostages captured during the 1979 Iranian revolution. See the film and then check our our discussion with Barbara Kopple and those intimately involved in the rescue on our YouTube channel.

We Need Your Help

The Jimmy Carter Presidential Library needs your help to reach more people. The more subscribers we have to our YouTube Channel, the better chance we have in being the first thing people see when they search online for Jimmy Carter. So we're asking you to go to click here to go to our YouTube page and then hit subscribe. We want more people to know what you already know about President Jimmy Carter.

Educational Opportunities

The Jimmy Carter Presidential Library offers online educational opportunities for students, teachers and Seniors Citizens.

Distance Learning for Students.

As circumstances continue to prevent onsite programming for students, the Carter Library will continue to offer a variety of distance learning opportunities for students, with an emphasis on civic literacy and engagement. View our current list of Student Programs to see what's available for your students. If you're ready to schedule a program, please complete our online registration form.

Senior Community Distance Learning.

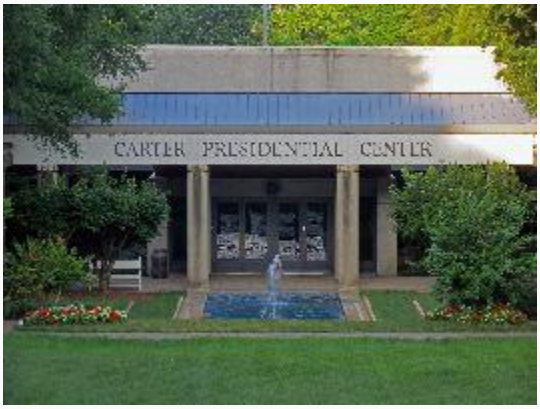

Do you organize and provide programming for a senior citizen institution or civic organization? If so, the time to reserve a presentation from the Carter Presidential Library is now! Our Education staff offers flexibility to deliver distance learning programming for seniors on a variety of topics related to the Carter Presidency, American Civics and Government, and the Mission, Vision and Values of the National Archives and Records Administration.

All programming is free of charge, with a minimum of 10 participants required for consideration. Requestor also agrees to host programming on a distance learning platform approved by their organization (Carter Library staff will present as co-host).

To schedule a distance learning program or to obtain further details, contact: Joshua Montanari, Education Specialist | email: joshua.montanari@nara.gov
