Dear Mr. President:

In my letter to you of May 23, 1978 (copy enclosed), I suggested the appropriateness of a White House ceremony or luncheon to celebrate the publication of the final volume in The Papers of Alexander Hamilton series.

It now appears that the volume will be published by May 1 of this year. National Historical Publications and Records Commission members, who come from all parts of the country, will be gathering for one of their triannual meetings in Washington on June 7 and 8. It would therefore be particularly auspicious for such a ceremony to be held on one of those dates, if possible, so that all Commission members could be present. Otherwise, a ceremony could be arranged to take place some other time after May 1.

I will be glad to discuss this further with the appropriate persons if you approve. A list of current Commission members is attached.

Respectfully,

Jay Solomon

Dear Mr. President:

About June 30 of next year, Columbia University Press will publish the last of the volumes of The Papers of Alexander Hamilton, a series edited by Dr. Harold C. Syrett and staff. Work on this massive, 27-volume project began in 1955 and has involved the cooperative efforts of hundreds of libraries, historical societies, manuscript collectors, archivists, and historians around the world in the search for Hamilton's now dispersed correspondence. The result is an enduring, accessible record of the papers of one of this country's founders. Copies of the volumes published to date are, I understand, in the White House Library.

Dr. James B. Rhoads, Archivist of the United States and Chairman of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission, which is the sponsor of this and some seventy other documentary projects, notes that this is the first of the Commission's "priority" series (including Jefferson, Madison, Adams, and Franklin) to come to an end. The series was launched by President Truman in a 1950 ceremony. Presidential recognition of Dr. Syrett's remarkable achievement, perhaps in a brief White House ceremony or luncheon, would be a generous and well-received gesture of thanks to the many individuals and organizations involved with the work.

If you approve, I would be pleased to discuss this further with the appropriate persons.

Respectfully,

Roy Swanstrom
Administrator
